U.S. General Sees Victory By Pressure

WASHINGTON (AP) — Gen. William C. Westmoreland told Congress today the only strategy that can defeat the Communist enemy in Vietnam "is one of unrelenting military, political and psychological pressure on his whole structure — at all levels."

This appeared a call for increased escalation, possibly including broadened bombing of North Vietnam and commitment of more U.S. troops to battle Communist forces in South Vietnam.

In an unprecedented personal report to Congress by a war commander, Westmoreland described U.S. forces as "unbeatable" and said they have been successful in destroying Communist main force units.

He said, "I can assure you here and now" that the Communist stratagem called "war of national liberation" will not succeed in Vietnam.

But while speaking of a "hopeful state of affairs," the U.S. commander in Vietnam sought to dispel any idea that the Communists are near collapse.

His remarks were in a prepared speech.

Later he was to brief governors, congressional leaders and Cabinet members at a White House luncheon.

In considerable detail, Westmoreland pictured for a joint meeting of House and Senate an enemy who has doubled his strength despite heavy battle losses, whose commanders are skilled professionals, whose troops are well trained, whose primitive supply system is surprisingly effective.

"I foresee that he will continue his buildup across the demilitarized zone and through Laos, and he will attack us when he believes he has a chance for a dramatic blow," the general predicted.

"I expect the enemy to continue to increase his mortar, artillery, rocket and recoilless rifle attacks on our installations. At the same time he will step up his attacks on hamlet, village and district organizations to intimidate the people and to thwart the democratic processes now under way in South Vietnam."

Westmoreland did not repeat his charge — made at The Associated Press annual meeting in New York Monday — that anti-war protests in the United States are encouraging the Communists to fight on, and that this will cost the lives of American and allied soldiers.

The closest the four-star general came to this was to recall that "As I have said before, in evaluating the enemy strategy it is evident to me that he believes our Achilles' heel is our resolve."

Man, Wife Killed Instantly When Truck Rams Into Auto

DEATH CAR. Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Bresky of Smiths Ferry R. D. 1 died in the crushed wreckage of this car which was struck by a tractor-trailer rig on Route 68 just east of the Pennsylvania state line. The overturned trailer, its load of slag spilled, is shown in the background.

Two Bodies Pinned In Twisted Car

Accident Occurs On Route 68 As Big Rig Runs Wild

An out - of - control slag truck smashed into the front of an Ohioville couple's auto this morning on Route 68 at the intersection with the Calcutta-Smiths Ferry Rd., instantly killing the pair.

Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Bresky of Smiths Ferry R.D. 1 died in the mishap shortly before 10.

Witnesses said the loaded slag truck came down the Smiths Ferry Rd. hill — its brakes apparently not working — and slammed into the westbound sedan, knocking it some 60 feet off the highway.

The truck's trailer overturned, spilling its load of slag.

Witnesses said the driver — Robert Wesley Moore, 22, of Wheeling — was sounding his horn as he approached the intersection, apparently hoping to warn traffic on Route 68.

The bodies of the two victims were pinned in the crumpled wreckage of the auto and police and wrecker crews late this morning worked at removing them. An ambulance stood by.

The Breskys, both in their '60's, were former residents of Springlane at Midland.

George Gaines, 22, of Crawford Ave. was passing the scene at the time and said the truck's horn was sounding as it approached the intersection.

Mr. Bresky, his wife, Agnes, in the passenger seat beside him, was driving toward East Liverpool in his 1967 sedan.

Moore apparently tried to make the turn at the intersection, and the tractor - trailer rig hit the front of the sedan, hammering it off the roadway

Dodd Vows He'll Fight Any Censure

Says He'll Run For Third Term In '70 Whatever Outcome

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate leaders indicated today the resolution to censure Sen. Thomas J. Dodd will be taken up in about 10 days. Dodd vowed to fight it and, whatever the outcome, to run for a third term in 1970.

The Senate's bipartisan Ethics Committee unanimously recommended Thursday after a 14-month investigation that the white-haired Connecticut Democrat be censured for financial misconduct.

None of Dodd's colleagues spoke out immediately in his defense, but he was quick to reassert he had done nothing wrong and said he would make a detailed reply to the committee's findings.

In its report to the Senate the panel said Dodd diverted to "his personal purposes" at least $116,083 in politically raised campaign and testimonial funds in the years 1961-65.

It also said that in this same period he collected travel expenses both from the Senate and private organizations for seven trips. It did not list the total amount involved in the double billing.

The proposed resolution of censure declared that in both respects Dodd's conduct was "contrary to accepted morals, derogates from the public trust expected of a senator, and tends to bring the Senate into dishonor and disrepute."

The committee also requested the Justice Department and Internal Revenue Service to look into various aspects of Dodd's activities to determine whether any possible violations of law were involved.

The report and the censure resolution were presented to the Senate by Sen. John Stennis, D-Miss., chairman of the six-member ethics panel, as Dodd looked on among only a handful of senators on the floor.

Resolution Asks Teacher 'Peace'

MARTINS FERRY, Ohio (AP)—A resolution adopted by a group of prominent Martins Ferry citizens has urged the local school board to accept four major points demanded by striking school teachers.

The resolution stated that if the board adopts these points, the teachers would return to work and end a three-day walkout.

The resolution stated the schools were closed and the students were the ones suffering. It also said the city was given a bad name and that the board had refused to allow citizens to speak at its last three meetings.

About 90 of the public school system's 133 teachers joined in the Classroom Teachers Association (CT) boycott of classes as it started Wednesday with a "professional study day." The association called the boycott because of the board's refusal to recognize the association as bargaining agent for the teachers.

The some 3,500 pupils in the school system were told to stay home until further notice.

Wednesday afternoon 87 teachers were mailed notices by School Supt. John C. Pickens telling them they had violated the state's Ferguson Act and that their contracts had been terminated. The Ferguson Act prohibits strikes by public employes.

Today is payday for the teachers but they planned a 9 a.m. meeting at a Wheeling, W. Va., hotel at which "we'll be advised by our lawyers whether we should try to pick up the paychecks," according to association president Allen Martin.

A second "study day" was called Thursday, with the teachers moving their meeting place from Martins Ferry to the Wheeling hotel.

"We were advised by our attorneys to move out of Belmont County so we could not be served with a contempt notice in one building at the same time," said Martin, a fifth grade teacher.

Attorneys for the board said Thursday they were preparing an affidavit charging the teachers and the Ohio Education Association with contempt in violation of a temporary injunction of last October. The Attorneys said the injunction enjoins the local and state groups from interfering with operation of the city's schools and that it still is in force.

Reds In South Vietnam Shell U.S., Viet Troops

SAIGON (AP) — Communist forces in South Vietnam's embattled northern sector poured artillery, mortar and rocket fire on U.S. and Vietnamese government troops overnight in some of the heaviest enemy shelling of the war.

The U.S. command said 12 American Marines were killed and 180 Marines and seven Army artillerymen were wounded in four attacks. South Vietnamese spokesmen termed their casualties light.

No enemy casualties were reported.

Heavy clouds moved back over much of North Vietnam, limiting air attacks on the North Thursday to 48 missions. All of them were made against targets in the panhandle at the southern end of North Vietnam, sparing the Hanoi-Haiphong area after three days of heavy pounding.

While fighting flared in the northernmost 1st Corps area, the Viet Cong announced they would observe a 48-hour truce from 7 a.m. May 22 to 7 a.m. May 24 (Saigon time) to mark Buddha's birthday. The Saigon government had said earlier it would cease fire for 24 hours on May 23.

There was no immediate indication whether the South Vietnamese and their allies would agree to the longer cease-fire period.

Despite the lull in the air war, the assault on North Vietnam cost the United States another plane today. An Air Force F4C jet bomber caught fire and exploded as it was rolling down the runway for a bombing mission from Ubon airbase in

Sgt. Elmer Barkay, in charge of the Chippewa post, issued a public appeal yesterday to the motorist who struck the youth to give himself up.

Production Crews Honor Pickets In Mackintosh Dispute

The Mackintosh - Hemphill Division plant of the E. W. Bliss Co. at Midland remained shut down today as a result of a walkout by clerical workers in a contract dispute.

Fourteen office and plant clerks Thursday morning began picketing the plant over salary-wage proposals in the contract negotiations.

Production workers yesterday and today observed the picket line and remained off their jobs. Only supervisory employes and necessary maintenance workers were on their jobs.

The clerical workers contend the salary proposal by the company is less than the standard steel scale nationally, while the company contends the firm is not included in the national steel scale because the division is a roll products firm.

Guilford Sewer System Debated

LISBON — The Guilford Lake sewer system debate was conducted before an audience of over 100 Thursday night in unheated Guilford Grange Hall.

Bringing property - owners information about the proposed $869,500 project were:

County Commissioners James W. Boyd of East Liverpool, Charles J. Gause of Guilford Lake and R. Max Gard of Lisbon R.D. 4; Dr. M. K. Singer county health commissioner; Harry Stockdale, county sanitarian; J. Warren Bettis, prosecuting attorney; Sharon Quigley of the county engineer's office, and two representatives of W. E. Quicksall & Associates, New Philadelphia consulting engineers, which compiled the preliminary engineering design data — William McKenna, engineer, and Ron Huprich, sanitarian, both of Dover.

Gause presided as president of the Guilford Lake Civic Association which scheduled the discussion in connection with its quarterly meeting.

HE SAID over 500 questionnaire - petition forms were mailed to owners of lake property after the sewage disposal system was introduced at the January meeting.

Of the 221 returns to date, 127 owners said they are in favor of the commissioners going ahead with final design plans, Gause said. Ninety-four are opposed.

Gause said final design plans will cost approximately $43,000.

"We are now at the crossroads and the people will have to decide," he said.

Boyd said he will go along with what the majority chooses to do. Gard said he believes this project will come sooner or later and the sooner it comes the less it will cost. Gard told the association the system is one way to assure the lake's future and improvement.

"It is for good, and it would be a bargain for us to get it at the present time," he said.

Plans call for a 70,000-foot long collection system and an aerobic digestion disposal plant between the spillway and Route 172.

BASING COST estimates on 870 assessable parcels, Quicksail estimates an assessment of $2.50 per front foot to install the line with a stub to each property line and a $30 tape - in fee. These fees could be paid at one time by the owner or assessed as taxes over 10 years. Quicksail said an annual charge of $62 would cover operating and maintenance costs and pay off the notes, issued for construction, over a 30-year period.

Gause said federal participation in the program has been applied for and could reduce the cost of construction to the property - owners by as much as 30 to 50 per cent.

Information sheets were distributed through the audience. The concluding sentence said: "A yes on the petition to the county commissioners is the way to get this action."

—:—

OPPONENTS of the proposal had the floor most of the meeting, which lasted over two hours. The main objection raised was the cost, particularly by people whose disposal systems are just new or working satisfactorily. Once the sewer line is installed, private systems would be banned.

Land - owners in the spillway area opposed the proposed location for the treatment plant. Others questioned whether the situation is as bad as health authorities suggested.

Dr. Singer and Stockdale said it is. Stockdale said it is his opinion the septic tank is "an invention of the devil." He said the situation at Guilford is particularly acute because the lots are small.

Walter Burbick, park manager, said the state recently had to drill three wells below the 300-foot depth to get good water. Water in the upper vein which tested satisfactory for many years no longer meets state tests, he added.

OTHER opponents questioned Quicksall's cost estimates, if the plant will be large enough to accomodate peak loads in the summer, and whether there would be sufficient "scouring action" with limited use in the winter to keep the lines open.

No decision was taken. Someone said the commissioners will have to decide. Someone else said the state should participate because it is a state lake. Burbick pointed out that the state latrines are sealed concrete vaults pumped three or more times each year and there is no seepage into lake or wells.

The association voted to sponsor the movement for extended telephone service between the Winona and Lisbon exchanges. Mrs. Jack Mills of Guilford Lake said a telephone survey of a great number of subscribers indicated 250 would be in favor, 66 would not and 18 are undecided.

Bettis, a former member of the Public Utilities Commission, said the sponsoring group should arrange meetings with the telephone companies — General Telephone Co. of Ohio for Winona and Ohio Vell for Lisbon— to ask them to conduct surveys.

'Stop Stealing Signs,' Director Asks Youths

Safety - Service Director Robert E. Vodrey has a message for youngsters who have been stealing street signs off standards in East Liverpool:

"Stop!"

The director said about a half a dozen of the signs have been stolen within the last week. Some were the "Stop" signs marking intersections and others were the "Do Not Enter" signs used to point out one-way streets, he said.

Some of the signs cost the city as high as $8, he remarked. Vodrey pointed out the greatest danger is the possibility that a missing traffic control sign might cause a crash that would injure or kill a motorist. He also warned that parents of juveniles responsible for the thefts may be held legally liable for the loss and damage.

Coppolino

Conviction of second degree murder carries a penalty of 20 years to life in prison.

"We the jury find Carl Coppolino guilty of murder in the second degree and so say we all," the jury said.

"I thought, or hoped, that we were running ahead throughout the trial," said prosecutor Frank Schaub.

Schaub's young assistant, William Strode, said he was not surprised because he thought the state had built a strong case and "this was a serious jury that was on top of the testimony all the way."

After the jury foreman, 48-year-old Harry Miller of Naples, delivered the verdict and it was read by the court clerk, Circuit Judge Lynn Silvertooth sent the spectators out of the small, hot courtroom. Then he delivered sentence of life imprisonment.

The 34-year-old doctor, nattily dressed in a black suit and white shirt, was marched under guard out a side door of the courtroom to a jail cell on the same floor. He was not handcuffed.

The defeat was a stunning one for Bailey, the dynamic, 33-year-old Boston defender who sprang into national prominence when he gained a new trial that freed Dr. Sam Sheppard.

The judge ordered Coppolino taken into custody immediately and delivered to the state penitentiary at Raiford. Bailey vigorously protested the verdict as invalid and illegal and moved that Coppolino be discharged.

"This is obviously the sort of charge where the verdict must be maximum or nothing," said Bailey. "There is no in between. From the allegation of poisoning the second degree conviction cannot stand."

Bailey said Coppolino can never be tried for first degree murder in this case again. By virtue of premeditation, he said, a poisoning case could only result in the conviction of first degree murder.

Bailey said the verdict showed compromise.

The judge denied Bailey's motion to continue Coppolino's $15,000 bail pending an appeal which must be filed within 15 days.

"This is a sick man," said Bailey, "you have a highly doubtful case. Incarceration will be wasted."

Coppolino, looking gaunt and shocked, conferred briefly with Bailey and then shook his head when asked if he had anything to say before sentence was passed.

The jury went back to its deliberations at 9:08 a.m. after an overnight recess in guarded quarters.

Silvertooth had summoned the panel of 12 men from the jury room at 10:20 p.m. Thursday night and asked if they were close enough to a verdict to continue deliberations.

"The court will go along with whatever you say," said Silvertooth.

Juror Harry Miller, 48, a Naples mortgage broker, said, "Under the present circumstances, I think we had better go home."

Silvertooth told the jury it could reach one of five verdicts — conviction of first-, second- or third-degree murder or manslaughter, or an acquittal. A first-degree conviction could mean death in the electric chair.

The state accused Dr. Carl Coppolino, 34-year-old anesthesiologist, of murdering his first wife Aug. 28, 1965, with an injection of a drug, succinylcholine, to collect her life insurance and to marry a rich divorcee.

Fifth: Robert Hobbs, captain; Hugh Lilly, Paul Milley and Harold West.

Routes 2 and 30: Donald Murray and Donald Hood.

The broom sale will begin Monday at 6 under the direction of general chairman Harry Lewis.

They will sell for $2. Whisk brooms may be purchased for $1.

In other business, the purchase of eyeglasses for two local school children was approved.

The club voted to send two high school students to a Lions leadership training conference at Camp Horseshoe, Parsons, W. Va., in June.

A committee comprised of William Moore and Mansfield was appointed to select the youths and arrange for their transportation.

Walter Jordan reported that plans were completed and 500 are expected to take part in the glaucoma survey project set for Sunday from 1 until 4 p. m. at the First Methodist Church.

Dr. Ralph W. Ryan of Morgantown, assisted by his staff and local volunteers, will conduct the survey.

Jordan said Chester Police Chief Audley Campbell will have a member of his department on hand to assist with traffic. Parking lots belonging to Dr. Frank L. Bragg and the Hancock County Federal Savings and Loan Association have been made available.

Following the survey, the Morgantown group will be taken on a tour of the Homer Laughlin China Co. Albert Logston of Newell will conduct the tour.

The next meeting will be May 11.

Ethics Committee Set; Former GI Is Chairman

WASHINGTON (AP) — With an ex-GI and former sports writer as its chairman, the bipartisan House Ethics Committee is now in business after years of clamor for its creation.

Adam Clayton Powell, whose activities were a major force that led to creation of the committee, lost a bid Thursday for a quick U.S. Court of Appeals decision on the constitutionality of the House vote that denied Powell his seat in Congress.

An Illinois Democrat, Melvin Price, 67, was chosen Thursday to head the group of six Democrats and six Republicans on the Committee on Standards of Official Conduct of House Members, Officials and Employes.

The Democratic Committee on Committees and the Republican Leadership Committee each chose its party's members.

All selections are subject to formal approval by the House Monday.

The committee's initial assignment is recommending for House approval a code of ethics and ways to enforce it.

Serving with Price will be Democrat's Olin E. Teague of Texas, Joe L. Evins of Tennessee, Watkins M. Abbitt of Virginia, Wayne Aspinall of Colorado and Edna Kelly of New York, and Republicans Charles A. Halleck of Indiana, Leslie C. Arends of Illinois, Jackson E. Betts of Ohio, Robert T. Stafford of Vermont, James H. Quillen of Tennessee and Lawrence G. Williams of Pennsylvania.

Mrs. Kelly is the junior Democrat even with 18 years of service.

Other than to say he would not lead "a witch hunt," Price had little comment on the appointment which he said he did not seek but which apparently pleased most of his colleagues in both parties.

He said he hoped to come up with rules of conduct "which will preserve and enhance the reputation and integrity of the House."

Price once was sports editor of the former East St. Louis News-Review.

He is an ardent St. Louis Cardinals rooter.

Price was elected to the House Nov. 7, 1944, while serving as an enlisted man in the Army.

Powell's attorneys, appealing a U.S. District Court ruling that it does not have jurisdiction to review the question of Powell's seating, said the appeals court should act as a matter of "the greatest urgency" for Powell's 400,000 New York constituents.

But the court said more briefs must be filed and then arguments heard "as the business of the court will permit."

Powell was denied seat and since has won re-election. But he has not again appeared at the Capitol to seek his seat.

Britain once considered the 34-square-mile island of Ascension, in the South Atlantic, as a man-of-war with a naval officer as governor. Today several nations have communications facilities on the isle. It plays a vital role in the United States space program as a missile tracking station on the Eastern Test Range.

Fee Of $10 Set In Building's Use

A charge of $10 a night for the community building was established by the Chester Park Commission during a meeting Thursday night with Lawrence Cline of Virginia Ave., a member.

The fee will be used to help defray operating expenses. The commission voted to pay off the indebtedness on the building amounting to some $1,300.

Plans were made to clean the park and prepare the playground for the coming season.

Harold Dickey, chairman, conducted business. The commission will hold a joint meeting in the near future with a committee from the volunteer fire department and City Council to discuss mutual problems.

The next meeting will be May 11.

KEEP TAXES DOWN PUSH PAYROLLS UP

Fellow Ohioans:

In the special election on May 2, we have an opportunity to further the progress of our great state by approving the proposed Ohio Bond Commission to create more and better jobs and to put into law the legislative apportionment plan now in effect under a federal court order.

Ohio is moving ahead at an unprecedented rate.

We are number one in industrial development. We are fast becoming number one in many other fields. We must meet the rapidly expanding needs of our people. We must fight unemployment.

Our towns, cities and counties need help to develop their resources to the fullest. We need to increase our efforts to provide more and better jobs, better education, and more opportunities for all Ohioans.

The Ohio Bond Commission will give Ohio well-planned, orderly growth and development. It will mean 100,000 more jobs for Ohioans. It will put our state on a sound footing to meet the challenges ahead.

Every OBC project must be approved by the Ohio Legislature. Definite limits have been set for the amount of money the state can use for OBC projects.

Passage of Issue Number 1 will set the stage for the greatest period of growth Ohio has ever seen. It will mean a continuation of responsible progress for all Ohioans.

Issue Number 2 deserves your support because it will put into law the present system of legislative apportionment, already approved as a fair plan by a special federal court, in conformity with the U.S. Supreme Court's "one-man, one-vote" ruling.

Ohio needs your help on Issues 1 and 2. I urge every voter to support them to keep taxes down, to push payrolls up, and to help provide more and better jobs for Ohioans.

Guilford Sewer System Debated

LISBON — The Guilford Lake sewer system debate was conducted before an audience of over 100 Thursday night in unheated Guilford Grange Hall.

Bringing property - owners information about the proposed $869,500 project were:

Teams For Broom Sale Set By Chester Lions

Teams for the annual house-to-house broom sale were named Thursday night at a meeting of the Chester Lions Club held in the club room on Louisiana Ave.

The brooms, sold each year to raise funds for the club's sight conservation work and community service projects, were purchased from the Industrious Blind Enterprises of Clarksburg, a project of the West Virginia Lions sight conservation foundation. The industry is providing employment for 23 blind and handicapped in the state.

Teams, named by Edward Loos, president, include:

First Ward, Jerry D'Angelo, captain; Louis Cavallaro, Sayre Graham and Loos.

Third: Paul Barnhart, captain; Charles Mansfield and William Moore.

Routes 2 and 30: Donald Murray and Donald Hood.

The broom sale will begin Monday at 6 under the direction of general chairman Harry Lewis.

They will sell for $2. Whisk brooms may be purchased for $1.

In other business, the purchase of eyeglasses for two local school children was approved.

The club voted to send two high school students to a Lions leadership training conference at Camp Horseshoe, Parsons, W. Va., in June.

A committee comprised of William Moore and Mansfield was appointed to select the youths and arrange for their transportation.

Walter Jordan reported that plans were completed and 500 are expected to take part in the glaucoma survey project set for Sunday from 1 until 4 p. m. at the First Methodist Church.

Dr. Ralph W. Ryan of Morgantown, assisted by his staff and local volunteers, will conduct the survey.

Jordan said Chester Police Chief Audley Campbell will have a member of his department on hand to assist with traffic. Parking lots belonging to Dr. Frank L. Bragg and the Hancock County Federal Savings and Loan Association have been made available.

Following the survey, the Morgantown group will be taken on a tour of the Homer Laughlin China Co. Albert Logston of Newell will conduct the tour.

The next meeting will be May 11.

Ethics Committee Set; Former GI Is Chairman

WASHINGTON (AP) — With an ex-GI and former sports writer as its chairman, the bipartisan House Ethics Committee is now in business after years of clamor for its creation.

Adam Clayton Powell, whose activities were a major force that led to creation of the committee, lost a bid Thursday for a quick U.S. Court of Appeals decision on the constitutionality of the House vote that denied Powell his seat in Congress.

An Illinois Democrat, Melvin Price, 67, was chosen Thursday to head the group of six Democrats and six Republicans on the Committee on Standards of Official Conduct of House Members, Officials and Employes.

The Democratic Committee on Committees and the Republican Leadership Committee each chose its party's members.

All selections are subject to formal approval by the House Monday.

The committee's initial assignment is recommending for House approval a code of ethics and ways to enforce it.

Serving with Price will be Democrat's Olin E. Teague of Texas, Joe L. Evins of Tennessee, Watkins M. Abbitt of Virginia, Wayne Aspinall of Colorado and Edna Kelly of New York, and Republicans Charles A. Halleck of Indiana, Leslie C. Arends of Illinois, Jackson E. Betts of Ohio, Robert T. Stafford of Vermont, James H. Quillen of Tennessee and Lawrence G. Williams of Pennsylvania.

Mrs. Kelly is the junior Democrat even with 18 years of service.

Other than to say he would not lead "a witch hunt," Price had little comment on the appointment which he said he did not seek but which apparently pleased most of his colleagues in both parties.

He said he hoped to come up with rules of conduct "which will preserve and enhance the reputation and integrity of the House."

Price once was sports editor of the former East St. Louis News-Review.

He is an ardent St. Louis Cardinals rooter.

Price was elected to the House Nov. 7, 1944, while serving as an enlisted man in the Army.

Powell's attorneys, appealing a U.S. District Court ruling that it does not have jurisdiction to review the question of Powell's seating, said the appeals court should act as a matter of "the greatest urgency" for Powell's 400,000 New York constituents.

But the court said more briefs must be filed and then arguments heard "as the business of the court will permit."

Powell was denied seat and since has won re-election. But he has not again appeared at the Capitol to seek his seat.

Britain once considered the 34-square-mile island of Ascension, in the South Atlantic, as a man-of-war with a naval officer as governor. Today several nations have communications facilities on the isle. It plays a vital role in the United States space program as a missile tracking station on the Eastern Test Range.

Fee Of $10 Set In Building's Use

A charge of $10 a night for the community building was established by the Chester Park Commission during a meeting Thursday night with Lawrence Cline of Virginia Ave., a member.

The fee will be used to help defray operating expenses. The commission voted to pay off the indebtedness on the building amounting to some $1,300.

Plans were made to clean the park and prepare the playground for the coming season.

Harold Dickey, chairman, conducted business. The commission will hold a joint meeting in the near future with a committee from the volunteer fire department and City Council to discuss mutual problems.

The next meeting will be May 11.

Governor Rhodes

KEEP TAXES DOWN PUSH PAYROLLS UP

Fellow Ohioans:

In the special election on May 2, we have an opportunity to further the progress of our great state by approving the proposed Ohio Bond Commission to create more and better jobs and to put into law the legislative apportionment plan now in effect under a federal court order.

Ohio is moving ahead at an unprecedented rate.

We are number one in industrial development. We are fast becoming number one in many other fields. We must meet the rapidly expanding needs of our people. We must fight unemployment.

Our towns, cities and counties need help to develop their resources to the fullest. We need to increase our efforts to provide more and better jobs, better education, and more opportunities for all Ohioans.

The Ohio Bond Commission will give Ohio well-planned, orderly growth and development. It will mean 100,000 more jobs for Ohioans. It will put our state on a sound footing to meet the challenges ahead.

Every OBC project must be approved by the Ohio Legislature. Definite limits have been set for the amount of money the state can use for OBC projects.

Passage of Issue Number 1 will set the stage for the greatest period of growth Ohio has ever seen. It will mean a continuation of responsible progress for all Ohioans.

Issue Number 2 deserves your support because it will put into law the present system of legislative apportionment, already approved as a fair plan by a special federal court, in conformity with the U.S. Supreme Court's "one-man, one-vote" ruling.

Ohio needs your help on Issues 1 and 2. I urge every voter to support them to keep taxes down, to push payrolls up, and to help provide more and better jobs for Ohioans.

Vote YES May 2

YES [X] ISSUE NUMBER ONE

YES [X] ISSUE NUMBER TWO

Help Make Ohio Number One

Sincerely,

James A. Rhodes

Teachers Find New Weapon

The teacher strike-firing incident at Martins Ferry is crystallizing a problem.

Teachers called a meeting during a school day to discuss refusal of the school board to recognize a bargaining representative. The board has fired 87 of them under the Ferguson Act, which prohibits strikes by public employes.

The Ohio Ferguson Act has been virtually ignored in the past because of its stringency. A legal battle is shaping up that could go all the way to the Ohio Supreme Court.

The fact remains that teachers have learned the strike is a powerful bargaining means. They will continue to use it.

They see what it has done for workers in all segments of American industry. Teachers are serving notice they are workers with skills to sell and deserve the right to bargain in their own behalf with their employer.

This new awakening of power, new militancy is hard for some to take: but it is a fact of life.

Growing numbers of teachers are saying they have had it with old systems, outdated methods and unproductive processes.

It is an expansion of the strongest weapon a working man ever found to knock down a better deal for himself.

It will be a long and noisy battle. One reason is obvious. Taxpayer money finances schools, whereas private capital supports industry.

Before it is finished, teachers will be in a stronger position and the Ferguson Act could well be down the drain because of infringement upon individual rights.

Even if a judgment on the Ferguson Act is not necessary, it is unlikely many school boards would fire most of their teachers. Where could replacement be found?

It is the job of school boards to keep schools open, not close them. The boards do not carry alone the responsibility of financing: but share it with every other resident of the school district.

It would have been much more satisfactory to the public and to teachers if circumstances could have prevented the necessity of drastic measures; but preventive medicine was ignored.

The Sound Of Laughter

The world needs a new breed of clowns — not the kind that keep the circus alive, but jesters who could be hired as morale boosters.

It's getting to be a morbid, head-shaking, hand-wringing existence.

The gloom gets deeper as sordid statistics strangle bewildered citizens.

Think back over the subject matter of your recent conversations.

Was it happy talk? More likely the solemn, worrisome and frightening topics outnumbered bright ones.

That is why we need professional clowns — to make us smile; to make us look on the lighter side; to recognize the world for what it is: part good, part bad; part tragic, part comic.

We have comedians and entertainers who perform on television, in clubs and in movies, but we need more.

Can you imagine how it would liven up an office to have a jester in pointed cap, tinkling bells and wide collar turning cartwheels between desks at mid-morning, stopping now and then to crack a joke, or pass along the latest good news, like a blow-by-blow description of how the office jerk belatedly got his walking papers.

Wouldn't factory coffee breaks be a riot if a folk singer played a guitar and sang lighthearted ditties?

Cities could hire comics to brighten up the streets. Restaurants could use them to prevent customers from "gloomerizing" during lunch time.

Does this mean we should forget about all the trouble in the world?

No. It means we should pay some attention to good things, to make the bad ones bearable.

Unless we take a look at the bright side of life once in a while, how can we find the strength to carry on?

I must be excused from believing Stalin's daughter is a bona fide refugee. She is a middle-aged Russian woman who was brought here to publicize a book she had written, part of the most brazen buildup seen in this country for many a year.

It is a telltale paradox that popular faith in representative democracy never is weaker than at the moment when representative democracy is demonstrating its strength — popular choice of candidates and popular decisions on issues affecting the public interest.

It was strange, wasn't it, that our fly-boys bombed MIG bases in North Vietnam while Gen. Westmoreland was back home and the commander-in-chief was abroad?

And Everybody's Invited!

The 'Backgrounders'

By Art Buchwald

WASHINGTON

There has been criticism of the press recently for attending what is known in Washington parlance as "the backgrounder." The backgrounder is an anonymous press conference at which some high official reveals certain "facts" to the press on the condition that the reporters will not identify the source of their news.

Art Buchwald

The trouble with this type of briefing is that it not only puts the newspaperman under obligation to the official for holding the backgrounder, but it also is used as a method of sending up trial balloons which many times are filled with hot air.

I hadn't realized the role backgrounders played in the life of the average newspaperman in Washington until I had my foot up on the bar at the National Press Club the other night and overheard the following conversation between four top-flight Washington correspondents.

The first one said: "A reliable source reported to me this morning that the State Department will soon merge with the U.S. Coast Guard as an economy measure as well as a practical matter."

"I CHECKED THIS out with a high-level spokesman at the White House," the second reporter said, "and he denied it."

"How high was your high-level spokesman?" the first reporter demanded.

"He was a damned sight higher than your reliable source at the State Department," the second man replied.

"It doesn't make any difference who outranks whom," the third man said, "because I just spoke to an informed source at the Pentagon, not for attribution of course, and he told me off the record that he could not comment on it, which certainly makes one believe there is something to it."

The fourth man became highly agitated. "A government spokesman who backgrounded us this morning said it was his understanding that State was going to merge with Health, Education and Welfare, and the U. S. Coast Guard was going to become part of the Library of Congress."

The first man spoke up again. "It so happens that a well-informed unnamed administrative official told us that your government official's backgrounder was in complete contradiction to an 'unidentified source story' he released to the press earlier in the day."

OH, YEAH, wise guy?" the fourth man said. "Your well-informed unnamed administrative official is noted for leaking denials of other people's backgrounders and I wouldn't put any faith in anything he said.

"You'd talk differently if you knew who my well-informed unnamed administrative official is. He chews up government officials for breakfast."

The third man chimed in: "I always get my stories on highest authority."

"Sure, but you attribute any reliable source to the highest authority."

"I have more faith in them than I do in top U. S. officials."

"The other day you even quoted an informed official as an authoritative source."

"That's still better than what you did when you got a story from someone 'in touch with the Pentagon' and changed it to 'a source close to the White House.' "

"I had permission to change it."

"From whom?"

"A highly-placed official. Who else?"

George Wallace

By James Marlow

WASHINGTON

Trying to pin down Alabama's former governor, George C. Wallace, at this point in his political career is like trying to squeeze ice cream.

Earlier this week he indicated he might run for president in 1968, but he wouldn't say so. Thursday at Pittsburgh he told newsmen, "Since I am running for president" and then backtracked, saying the newsmen had him mixed up.

If he did run, he certainly couldn't win. But if he took enough votes away from Democratic and Republican candidates so that neither got a majority, the election would have to be thrown into the House of Representatives.

Last Sunday on NBC's "Meet the Press" he was asked if this threat to run for president was just "to black mail one of the parties into accepting your view?" Wallace harps on the need for conservative candidates and party platforms.

WALLACE DENIED any thought of blackmail, but earlier this year announced that if the two national parties 'don't swing around and fly right in 1968' he would be preaching the conservative cause from coast to coast.

When he ran in 1964 — that is, before he dropped out of the race — he said his purpose was to "conservatize" the two big parties and, if he could keep either from winning, he would gain a pro-Southern bargaining position.

Wallace withdrew from that race after the Republicans nominated Sen. Barry Goldwater. This might have been interpreted as meaning Goldwater was conservative enough to suit Wallace. But he didn't endorse Goldwater.

And something else might have influenced him to pull out. A number of his supporters began to desert him for Goldwater, thus facing him with the possibility of a Wallace - Goldwater split that might leave the Democrats with a majority.

But, anyway, he quit after saying he wouldn't quit.

The former governor, 47 and a segregationist, says "I am not against the policy of nondiscrimination," explaining he would not advocate segregation in any state. But he thinks Alabama's public schools should be segregated.

When asked if he became president whether he would advocate repeal of the civil rights laws now on the books, Wallace said he would advocate modifications and in the next breath said he would advocate some repeals.

HE COMPLAINS repeatedly of federal interference with what the states want to do with their domestic institutions.

So, since practically all of Alabama's school superintendents were trying to meet federal requirement to desegregate, he was asked why his wife, Lurleen Wallace, Alabama's present governor, is telling them not to.

He was asked a further question: Didn't this mean he was using the very kind of force he doesn't want the federal government to use? Wallace went into a long spiraling answer which seemed to say the local subdivisions of a state should not be compared with the states and the federal government.

Mrs. Wallace, whose husband is her No. 1 adviser, on March 30 asked the Alabama Legislature for power to take over the schools as one step in a defiant plan to resist a three-judge federal court order to integrate them.

The only reason Mrs. Wallace ran for governor was because the law didn't allow her husband to run again. But on the day she announced she would run, her husband said, "I will dictate the policies" and "both of us will be governor."

This sounded all right to the voters of Alabama who gave them a big victory.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Wellsville School Levy Backed

EDITOR OF THE REVIEW:

Residents of Wellsville and the immediate area, as you know a levy for the Wellsville schools is to be voted on Tuesday.

This is very much needed to help keep the schools operating efficiently.

Try to forget whatever bad feelings you may have for some of the teachers and some board members. A lot of people say a teacher makes high wages, more than they need to get for what they do. And some say the teachers aren't good teachers.

As to wages, in comparison to a great many of the pottery workers, Class H and under in the steel mills, and others, a teacher does make about the same wages, if not more. But a lot of these workers may be making a fairly good wage while a person going into teaching has two, four or more years of college to get in before becoming a teacher, and at a cost of from $1,000 to more than $2,000 a year. And a great many of us just couldn't make a good teacher.

Some parents say "My kids are out of school now. I'm not going to worry about some one else's kids."

Forget this. The kids' education is most important.

This levy, if passed, will make it somewhat harder on retired people or persons on pensions. It would be good if these people could be bypassed and not have to pay this extra amount, but by law this isn't possible.

A lot of parents and other people actually don't realize how important extra activities are to the students.

Some of the "extras" are football, basketball, band, plays, chorus, recreation periods, driver training course, to mention only a few.

Take for example, driver training. In 1966 and before, a boy or girl of age paid only $5. The school board allotted $30 more for each. This year a fee of $35 was set. There weren't enough pupils who could afford this amount so the course was dropped.

Another example, the choir that is making such a good showing and going to Columbus Saturday, will be sharply curtailed or eliminated altogether in its activities. It was really great last Friday evening.

The sad fate or the good environment for better education for the pupils of Wellsville depend on this levy. Think how it will make each and everyone of these pupils feel if the levy fails.

Vote "Yes" for the levy.

A Reply To The 'Protesters'

EDITOR OF THE REVIEW:

I am writing in regards to Pfc. Tom Hays' letter about Vietnam.

I am married to a soldier in Vietnam. This is his second tour of Vietnam. The young people who protest against the war don't know what it is like.

My husband wrote in one of his letters that it was one big hell hole, but he will stay and fight. He knows what freedom means to the people over there.

He told me when I wrote and asked him why he volunteered. He said only God could understand. The people in Vietnam don't have the freedom that we have. He said he wanted to make our home shores safe for our children.

We were only married two weeks when he was sent back to Vietnam and I have to wait six more months until he comes home.

If these draft-dodgers would quit protesting and go over there and fight, then they will know why some of our men gave their lives so that "Freedom" can go on living.

Let those protesters answer one question for all of us who have loved ones in Vietnam or who have died on foreign soil:

Why aren't you over there protecting our "Freedom" too.

I pray to God every night to bring my husband home safe so he can be with the ones who love him.

He believes that he has a duty to his country and to his family.

I would like to tell Tom Hays one thing: May God bless and watch over you because we need more men like you and the men serving in Vietnam.

And Everybody's Invited!

The 'Backgrounders'

By Art Buchwald

WASHINGTON

There has been criticism of the press recently for attending what is known in Washington parlance as "the backgrounder." The backgrounder is an anonymous press conference at which some high official reveals certain "facts" to the press on the condition that the reporters will not identify the source of their news.

Art Buchwald

The trouble with this type of briefing is that it not only puts the newspaperman under obligation to the official for holding the backgrounder, but it also is used as a method of sending up trial balloons which many times are filled with hot air.

I hadn't realized the role backgrounders played in the life of the average newspaperman in Washington until I had my foot up on the bar at the National Press Club the other night and overheard the following conversation between four top-flight Washington correspondents.

The first one said: "A reliable source reported to me this morning that the State Department will soon merge with the U.S. Coast Guard as an economy measure as well as a practical matter."

"I CHECKED THIS out with a high-level spokesman at the White House," the second reporter said, "and he denied it."

"How high was your high-level spokesman?" the first reporter demanded.

"He was a damned sight higher than your reliable source at the State Department," the second man replied.

"It doesn't make any difference who outranks whom," the third man said, "because I just spoke to an informed source at the Pentagon, not for attribution of course, and he told me off the record that he could not comment on it, which certainly makes one believe there is something to it."

The fourth man became highly agitated. "A government spokesman who backgrounded us this morning said it was his understanding that State was going to merge with Health, Education and Welfare, and the U. S. Coast Guard was going to become part of the Library of Congress."

The first man spoke up again. "It so happens that a well-informed unnamed administrative official told us that your government official's backgrounder was in complete contradiction to an 'unidentified source story' he released to the press earlier in the day."

OH, YEAH, wise guy?" the fourth man said. "Your well-informed unnamed administrative official is noted for leaking denials of other people's backgrounders and I wouldn't put any faith in anything he said.

"You'd talk differently if you knew who my well-informed unnamed administrative official is. He chews up government officials for breakfast."

The third man chimed in: "I always get my stories on highest authority."

"Sure, but you attribute any reliable source to the highest authority."

"I have more faith in them than I do in top U. S. officials."

"The other day you even quoted an informed official as an authoritative source."

"That's still better than what you did when you got a story from someone 'in touch with the Pentagon' and changed it to 'a source close to the White House.' "

"I had permission to change it."

"From whom?"

"A highly-placed official. Who else?"

George Wallace

By James Marlow

WASHINGTON

Trying to pin down Alabama's former governor, George C. Wallace, at this point in his political career is like trying to squeeze ice cream.

Earlier this week he indicated he might run for president in 1968, but he wouldn't say so. Thursday at Pittsburgh he told newsmen, "Since I am running for president" and then backtracked, saying the newsmen had him mixed up.

If he did run, he certainly couldn't win. But if he took enough votes away from Democratic and Republican candidates so that neither got a majority, the election would have to be thrown into the House of Representatives.

Last Sunday on NBC's "Meet the Press" he was asked if this threat to run for president was just "to black mail one of the parties into accepting your view?" Wallace harps on the need for conservative candidates and party platforms.

WALLACE DENIED any thought of blackmail, but earlier this year announced that if the two national parties "don't swing around and fly right in 1968" he would be preaching the conservative cause from coast to coast.

When he ran in 1964 — that is, before he dropped out of the race — he said his purpose was to "conservatize" the two big parties and, if he could keep either from winning, he would gain a pro-Southern bargaining position.

Wallace withdrew from that race after the Republicans nominated Sen. Barry Goldwater. This might have been interpreted as meaning Goldwater was conservative enough to suit Wallace. But he didn't endorse Goldwater.

And something else might have influenced him to pull out. A number of his supporters began to desert him for Goldwater, thus facing him with the possibility of a Wallace - Goldwater split that might leave the Democrats with a majority.

But, anyway, he quit after saying he wouldn't quit.

The former governor, 47 and a segregationist, says "I am not against the policy of nondiscrimination," explaining he would not advocate segregation in any state. But he thinks Alabama's public schools should be segregated.

When asked if he became president whether he would advocate repeal of the civil rights laws now on the books, Wallace said he would advocate modifications and in the next breath said he would advocate some repeals.

HE COMPLAINS repeatedly of federal interference with what the states want to do with their domestic institutions.

So, since practically all of Alabama's school superintendents were trying to meet federal requirement to desegregate, he was asked why his wife, Lurleen Wallace, Alabama's present governor, is telling them not to.

He was asked a further question: Didn't this mean he was using the very kind of force he doesn't want the federal government to use? Wallace went into a long spiraling answer which seemed to say the local subdivisions of a state should not be compared with the states and the federal government.

Mrs. Wallace, whose husband is her No. 1 adviser, on March 30 asked the Alabama Legislature for power to take over the schools as one step in a defiant plan to resist a three-judge federal court order to integrate them.

The only reason Mrs. Wallace ran for governor was because the law didn't allow her husband to run again. But on the day she announced she would run, her husband said, "I will dictate the policies" and "both of us will be governor."

This sounded all right to the voters of Alabama who gave them a big victory.

Wellsville School Levy Backed

EDITOR OF THE REVIEW:

Residents of Wellsville and the immediate area, as you know a levy for the Wellsville schools is to be voted on Tuesday.

This is very much needed to help keep the schools operating efficiently.

Try to forget whatever bad feelings you may have for some of the teachers and some board members. A lot of people say a teacher makes high wages, more than they need to get for what they do. And some say the teachers aren't good teachers.

As to wages, in comparison to a great many of the pottery workers, Class II and under in the steel mills, and others, a teacher does make about the same wages, if not more. But a lot of these workers may be making a fairly good wage while a person going into teaching has two, four or more years of college to get in before becoming a teacher, and at a cost of from $1,000 to more than $2,000 a year. And a great many of us just couldn't make a good teacher.

Some parents say: "My kids are out of school now. I'm not going to worry about some one else's kids."

Forget this. The kids' education is most important.

This levy, if passed, will make it somewhat harder on retired people or persons on pensions. It would be good if these people could be bypassed and not have to pay this extra amount, but by law this isn't possible.

A lot of parents and other people actually don't realize how important extra activities are to the students.

Some of the "extras" are football, basketball, band, plays, chorus, recreation periods, driver training course, to mention only a few.

Take for example, driver training. In 1966 and before, a boy or girl of age paid only $5. The school board allotted $30 more for each. This year a fee of $35 was set. There weren't enough pupils who could afford this amount so the course was dropped.

Another example, the choir that is making such a good showing and going to Columbus Saturday, will be sharply curtailed or eliminated altogether in its activities. It was really great last Friday evening.

The sad fate or the good environment for better education for the pupils of Wellsville depend on this levy. Think how it will make each and everyone of these pupils feel if the levy fails.

Vote "Yes" for the levy.

A Reply To The 'Protesters'

EDITOR OF THE REVIEW:

I am writing in regards to Pfc. Tom Hays' letter about Vietnam.

I am married to a soldier in Vietnam. This is his second tour of Vietnam. The young people who protest against the war don't know what it is like.

My husband wrote in one of his letters that it was one big hell hole, but he will stay and fight. He knows what freedom means to the people over there.

He told me when I wrote and asked him why he volunteered. He said only God could understand. The people in Vietnam don't have the freedom that we have. He said he wanted to make our home shores safe for our children.

We were only married two weeks when he was sent back to Vietnam and I have to wait six more months until he comes home.

If these draft-dodgers would quit protesting and go over there and fight, then they will know why some of our men gave their lives so that "Freedom" can go on living.

Let those protesters answer one question for all of us who have loved ones in Vietnam or who have died on foreign soil:

Why aren't you over there protecting our "Freedom" too.

I pray to God every night to bring my husband home safe so he can be with the ones who love him.

He believes that he has a duty to his country and to his family.

I would like to tell Tom Hays one thing: May God bless and watch over you because we need more men like you and the men serving in Vietnam.

Restricts Rifle, Shotgun Sales

Philadelphia's Gun Law Reduces City's Homicides

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Two years ago Philadelphia restricted the sale of rifles and shotguns as a crime deterrent measure.

Police readily admit no scientific measure is possible to determine the effectiveness of the restriction, but they cite as a gauge, however, statistics which show that homicides dropped 13.2 per cent in the nation's fourth largest city in 1966 over the previous year while all serious crimes dropped 6.4 per cent. The gun law bars the sales of weapons to habitual drunks, narcotics addicts and persons convicted of violent crime.

Opponents of the ordinance, which provides a $300 fine and 90 days in jail, or both, for anyone caught possessing an unregistered rifle or shotgun, claim it is so rigid it is unenforceable.

Irv Joffe, a former Philadelphia gun dealer who moved his shop to suburban Delaware County, claims the law is violated between 65,000 and 85,000 times a year by residents who sell their weapons privately without bothering to have them registered first.

The law, which requires prospective rifle and shotgun owners to be fingerprinted and photographed by police, has put 19 gun dealers out of business in the last year, according to Joffe.

Dealers also claim the law has cost the city $3 million in taxes lost because of the decline in the sale of guns and allied products.

The law's supporters generally take the view of Ephraim Gomberg, executive vice president of the Crime Commission of Philadelphia, a private, nonprofit organization which has been a consistent supporter of gun control as a crime deterrent.

"If only one serious crime was averted by the ordinance, the law is justified," says Gomberg. He cites police statistics which show that in 1966 the department denied weapons permits to 144 of the more than 5,000 applicants.

"Among the 144, according to police, were 30 convicted burglars, 10 robbers, 13 convicted of aggravated assault and battery, a narcotics addict, three rapists, and 13 persons convicted of assault with intent to kill.

Widespread local interest in gun control came in the groundswell of reaction to the assassination of President John F. Kennedy. It took, however, the death of a policeman to provide enough public support for City Council to pass the measure.

It was enacted April 16, 1965, seven months after Detective Lt. Daniel J. McCann was shot to death by a woman who obtained a permit for a pistol under her married name despite the fact she had a criminal record under her maiden name.

Wallace Says He's Defender Of 'Rights'

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Former Gov. George C. Wallace of Alabama says he's a defender of states' rights, not a racist.

"I have never in my public life made a speech reflecting on the rights of people because of their race, creed, color or religion," he told an audience of Pittsburgh business and professional men Thursday night.

Wallace said that as governor of Alabama he tried to block encroachment by the federal government.

"We don't like it because the federal courts have stepped into every phase of government that should be left to the respective states," he said. "That's all we're talking about — the right of home rule or territorial integrity."

The audience of 1,000 applauded throughout his speech. Some occasionally stood to cheer.

A line of seven or eight men was at the side of the speakers' table throughout the meal earlier. The men had left their $15-a-plate dinners to shake hands with Wallace. The former governor's food, touched only slightly, grew cold as he greeted them.

The reception at Pittsburgh, his second stop on a Northern speaking tour, was in marked contrast to his greeting at Syracuse University Wednesday. That audience, composed largely of college students, interrupted him with jeers and boos.

There were demonstrators in Pittsburgh, too.

An estimated 1,500 persons, mostly Negroes, marched three abreast around the hotel where Wallace appeared, chanting "Go home Wallace, Wallace go home."

Wallace arrived before the demonstrators appeared and stayed at the hotel overnight. He didn't see them.

He leaves today for Cleveland, Ohio, for another speech in a four-city tour interpreted as a trial run for a possible presidential candidacy in 1968, as he tried in 1964.

But Wallace said again in Pittsburgh that he will not decide whether to become a candidate until the end of the year.

He told a news conference he may seek the presidency "if the two major parties do not give the people a choice."

"It looks now," he said, "as if neither major party will give the people that choice."

Unmanned Saturn 5 Rocket Test Delayed

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — Development problems will delay the first unmanned test flights of the Saturn 5 moon rocket and a lunar- landing vehicle until the last half of this year, the space agency says.

Both launches previously were scheduled to occur before the end of June.

Sources said the Saturn 5 is now scheduled for its initial test flight in mid-August. The spider-legged lunar-landing craft is not expected to rocket into orbit on its first unmanned test until late September or early October.

northeast Thailand. The U.S. Embassy in Bangkok said the plane's two crewmen escaped unhurt but a ground crewman was seriously injured.

The blistering barrages just south of the demilitarized zone between North and South Vietnam came after weeks of increasing U.S. concern over Communist moves in the five provinces that make up South Vietnam's 1st Corps area.

South Vietnamese military headquarters reported that one of the attacks on Gio Linh, an allied artillery base one mile south of the DMZ, consisted of 1,100 rounds of 105mm howitzer fire. U.S. spokesmen said an estimated 250 rounds of artillery fire were directed at U.S. positions there plus uncounted rounds of mortar fire.

In the past the Communists have used artillery sparingly, and the rain of shells laid down Thursday night aroused speculation that the enemy had strengthened its resources of heavy guns and ammunition.

Other attacks were made at Dong Ha, a U.S. Marine forward position 10 miles south of the buffer zone; at Con Thien, near Gio Linh, and at the U.S. Marine base at Phu Bai, to the south in Thua Thien Province.

At Dong Ha, where nine Marines were killed and 51 were wounded, the Communists fired 50 rounds from big, Russian-made 140mm rockets at the American positions.

The allied forces struck back with artillery fire, mortars and air strikes, but a U.S. briefing officer said no enemy casualties were reported.

U.S. B52 bombers made four strikes today, three of them in the 1st Corps area. Two hit at enemy troops concentrations, bunkers and cave complexes in Quang Tri Province, which borders the demilitarized zone. The third was against an enemy camp 31 miles southwest of the old imperial capital of Hue.

The fourth was in the central highlands southeast of Pleiku.

Except for the attacks near the border, no major ground fighting was reported across the country. But the U.S. command said naval gunfire killed 61 of the enemy Thursday in a coastal area near Duc Pho, 340 miles northeast of Saigon, where U.S. Army troops now are operating for the first time.

Three helicopters, two Marine and one Army, were downed by ground fire Thursday, and 11 men were wounded. All three aircraft were destroyed.

Viet Cong terrorists assassinated two hamlet chiefs Thursday, including one who had been a successful candidate in the village elections earlier this month, a government spokesman announced.

All the terrorists escaped.

In Saigon, the new U.S. Ambassador, Ellsworth T. Bunker, met with Premier Nguyen Cao Ky for the first time since his arrival Tuesday. The meeting lasted an hour, and Bunker told newsmen they had an "extremely interesting talk" about many problems.

House Votes Guidelines In Redistricting

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House has backed another effort to set guidelines for congressional redistricting, but the bill appears to face rough going on two fronts.

The measure, approved Thursday 289 to 63, goes to the Senate Judiciary Committee which killed a similar bill in the 89th Congress — and where sources say there has been little interest in action this year.

Even if the bill passes the Senate, it might run afoul of the courts, which have thrown out apportionments that would be allowed by the bill.

The legislation permits a deviation of up to 30 per cent in the size of a state's congressional districts for the 1968 and 1970 elections, but cuts the gap to 10 per cent starting in 1972.

loss of composure as Stennis spoke.

Shortly before Stennis rose in the Senate he went by Dodd's office and gave him a copy of the report. Stennis later told a reporter he felt he owed this gesture of courtesy to Dodd.

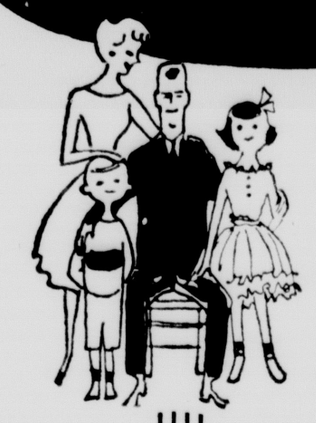

Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield said his guess was that the censure resolution would not be taken up in the Senate until the week of May 7 — partly to give Dodd time to prepare his defense and also in hopes of first clearing away a Senate snarl over a tax bill.

South Vietnamese military headquarters reported that one of the attacks on Gio Linh, an allied artillery base one mile south of the DMZ, consisted of 1,100 rounds of 105mm howitzer fire. U.S. spokesmen said an estimated 250 rounds of artillery fire were directed at U.S. positions there plus uncounted rounds of mortar fire.

In the past the Communists have used artillery sparingly, and the rain of shells laid down Thursday night aroused speculation that the enemy had strengthened its resources of heavy guns and ammunition.

Other attacks were made at Dong Ha, a U.S. Marine forward position 10 miles south of the buffer zone; at Con Thien, near Gio Linh, and at the U.S. Marine base at Phu Bai, to the south in Thua Thien Province.

At Dong Ha, where nine Marines were killed and 51 were wounded, the Communists fired 50 rounds from big, Russian-made 140mm rockets at the American positions.

The allied forces struck back with artillery fire, mortars and air strikes, but a U.S. briefing officer said no enemy casualties were reported.

U.S. B52 bombers made four strikes today, three of them in the 1st Corps area. Two hit at enemy troops concentrations, bunkers and cave complexes in Quang Tri Province, which borders the demilitarized zone. The third was against an enemy camp 31 miles southwest of the old imperial capital of Hue.

The fourth was in the central highlands southeast of Pleiku.

Except for the attacks near the border, no major ground fighting was reported across the country. But the U.S. command said naval gunfire killed 61 of the enemy Thursday in a coastal area near Duc Pho, 340 miles northeast of Saigon, where U.S. Army troops now are operating for the first time.

Three helicopters, two Marine and one Army, were downed by ground fire Thursday, and 11 men were wounded. All three aircraft were destroyed.

Viet Cong terrorists assassinated two hamlet chiefs Thursday, including one who had been a successful candidate in the village elections earlier this month, a government spokesman announced.

All the terrorists escaped.

In Saigon, the new U.S. Ambassador, Ellsworth T. Bunker, met with Premier Nguyen Cao Ky for the first time since his arrival Tuesday. The meeting lasted an hour, and Bunker told newsmen they had an "extremely interesting talk" about many problems.

House Votes Guidelines In Redistricting

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House has backed another effort to set guidelines for congressional redistricting, but the bill appears to face rough going on two fronts.

The measure, approved Thursday 289 to 63, goes to the Senate Judiciary Committee which killed a similar bill in the 89th Congress — and where sources say there has been little interest in action this year.

Even if the bill passes the Senate, it might run afoul of the courts, which have thrown out apportionments that would be allowed by the bill.

The legislation permits a deviation of up to 30 per cent in the size of a state's congressional districts for the 1968 and 1970 elections, but cuts the gap to 10 per cent starting in 1972.

loss of composure as Stennis spoke.

Shortly before Stennis rose in the Senate he went by Dodd's office and gave him a copy of the report. Stennis later told a reporter he felt he owed this gesture of courtesy to Dodd.

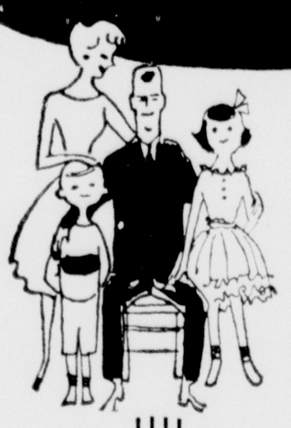

Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield said his guess was that the censure resolution would not be taken up in the Senate until the week of May 7 — partly to give Dodd time to prepare his defense and also in hopes of first clearing away a Senate snarl over a tax bill.

Titan Successfully Orbits 3 Satellites, 2 'Sentries'

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — Flying with acrobatic precision, a powerful Titan 3 rocket today successfully orbited three scientific satellites and two robot sentries to police against violations of the nuclear test ban treaty.

"Everything looks very good," an Air Force spokesman reported at 9:21 a.m. after all five satellites sprung free from the booster's last stage.

The five-in-one shot, grounded one week by pesky problems, blasted off at 5:01 a.m. after a perfect countdown. Two strap-on motors licked the early-morning darkness with twin tongues of flame as the Titan 3 shot skyward from Cape Kennedy.

The rocket's last stage, with payloads attached, first darted into a medium-altitude orbit as planned, then re-ignited more than four hours later to kick the payload into a cigar-shaped path ranging from 5,300 to 69,000 miles above the earth — nearly one-third the distance to the moon.

The mighty Air Force rocket — similar to the type that will someday launch astronauts aboard the Defense Department's Manned Orbiting Laboratory — licked the early morning darkness with brilliant plumes of flame from two strap-on booster motors.

"Everything looks good. It's on time and on the line," an Air Force spokesman said as the $20-million payload raced toward its target in space.

Two nuclear-detection satellites, called Velas, were packed aboard the Titan 3 to spot nuclear blasts in earth's atmosphere and deep space, perhaps as far away as Mars.

The new Velas are improved versions of six similar satellites orbited previously to help police the limited test ban treaty signed in 1963 by the United States, the Soviet Union and more than 100 other nations.

The pact prohibits nuclear tests in the atmosphere, under water or in space but allows underground detonations such as one conducted Thursday at the Atomic Energy Commission's Nevada Test Site.

About 22 hours after separating from the Titan 3's last stage, the flight plan called for one Vela to trigger a spacecraft motor to change its elliptical path into a circular orbit 69,000 miles high, with the second Vela to perform the same maneuver in three days, stationing itself on the opposite side of earth.

Three other satellites aboard the $15-million Titan 3 are to remain in the elliptical orbit.

A small arm was installed in one of the payloads, nicknamed the "windshield-wiper satellite," to sweep across various materials such as stainless steel and gold so engineers can measure friction characteristics.

A second payload was designed to study death-dealing and satellite-damaging radiation emitted from the sun while the third satellite studies other types of radiation near earth.

Voting Supplies Distribution Set From 3 Offices

Probation Request Denied, 2 Ordered To Reformatory

Two East Liverpool youths who pleaded guilty early this year to a charge of receiving and concealing stolen property heard Judge Joel H. Sharp deny their requests for probation Thursday in Common Pleas Court.

Judge Sharp sentenced Joe Murray, 20, of rear 454 Mulberry St. and Walter (Brent) Parsons, 19, of 371 Mulberry St. to 1 to 7 years in the Ohio Reformatory at Mansfield.

—:—

THE TWO appeared in the same courtroom two months ago as witnesses in the trial of Murray's mother, Mrs. Louise Melvin, 46, rear 454 Mulberry.

A jury acquitted her of a charge of receiving and concealing stolen property — radios, television sets, tape recorders, record players, steroes and walkie-talkies.

Only six of the 26 items stolen the night of Nov. 22-23 from Cataldo TV Sales & Service, Main St., Wellsville, have been recovered. Owner Albert Caltaldo's loss in the 20 items missing is $950, the court noted.

Parsons appeared as a state's witness at Mrs. Melvin's trail. He testified he helped Murray carry radios, television sets and other equipment from the Melvin car into the Melvin house. He said this was early on the morning of Nov. 23 just after Mrs. Melvin returned from going to Wellsville to get Joe in response to a telephone call.

Parsons testified Joe had called him about 2:30 a. m. and told him he had broken into a store in Wellsville and wanted Parsons to pick him up.

MURRAY testified that Parsons came to his house two or three days after Nov. 23 and wanted him to help move "some stuff" into the Parsons' basement. Murray said he went to Parsons' house and helped him carry television sets and radios into the house from a hiding place beside a truck in Parsons' yard. The sets were concealed under cardboard, Murray said.

Recalling Parsons' testimony, Judge Sharp said, "I think in that particular instance he told the truth as far as Joe Murray was concerned. I don't think he told the whole truth as far as he is concerned, and I think he could have given a much fuller account of what happened to the stolen goods."

Of Murray's testimony at the trial, Judge Sharp said, "I am convinced that he did not tell the truth in that case and of course he was under oath. The story he told was utterly unbelievable."

The January grand jury also indicted Murray on a charge of burglary at Cataldo's store. The state dropped that charge when Murray offered to plead guilty to the receiving and concealing charge.

How Can I?

By ANNE ASHLEY

Q.—How can I remove the black deposits that have built up in the grout joints of my bathroom wall tile?

A.—Merely by dampening a cloth with ordinary kerosene, and scrubbing the joints until the soil and grease have dissolved. And the coating left on will prevent the accumulation of more grease.

Q. — What is the best way to iron pleats?

A. — First iron the hem, then iron the pleats from the bottom up. For a fussy job, pin each pleat to the ironing pad, taking care to place the pins so that the marks won't show. On wool, use a pressing cloth and a warm iron, and set it down gently on the cloth instead of using a gliding motion.

Q. — How can I remove old water paint from a concrete wall?

A. — Dissolve a pound of trisodium phosphate in one gallon of hot water, and apply this solution very liberally, soaking the walls thoroughly. Then scrub with a stiff wire brush, removing all the paint from the crevices and cracks.

Q. — Is there any remedy at all when the warp of a carpet or rug shows in a few worn spots?

A. — You can often camouflage these worn spots by rubbing over them with a crayon of matching color. And the more ambitious housekeeper can get dye and apply it to the spot with a small piece of sponge.

Facts and Fallacies about Jewelry
by W. D. ORR

FALLACY:
No gem even approaches the diamond in price.
FACT:
While the diamond is, generally speaking, the most valuable of precious stones, there is one which, carat for carat, can be as costly and sometimes even more valuable. That is the corn flower blue sapphire found in Kashmir. One reason for their high value is that the supply of these deep blue sapphires is almost exhausted.
CONCLUSION:
Few can afford a Kashmir sapphire . . . but you will find gorgeous sapphires and diamonds in our jewelry display. We'll be glad to help you choose wisely for lasting pleasure.

How Can I?

By ANNE ASHLEY

Q.—How can I remove the black deposits that have built up in the grout joints of my bathroom wall tile?

A.—Merely by dampening a cloth with ordinary kerosene, and scrubbing the joints until the soil and grease have dissolved. And the coating left on will prevent the accumulation of more grease.

Q. — What is the best way to iron pleats?

A. — First iron the hem, then iron the pleats from the bottom up. For a fussy job, pin each pleat to the ironing pad, taking care to place the pins so that the marks won't show. On wool, use a pressing cloth and a warm iron, and set it down gently on the cloth instead of using a gliding motion.

Q. — How can I remove old water paint from a concrete wall?

A. — Dissolve a pound of trisodium phosphate in one gallon of hot water, and apply this solution very liberally, soaking the walls thoroughly. Then scrub with a stiff wire brush, removing all the paint from the crevices and cracks.

Q. — Is there any remedy at all when the warp of a carpet or rug shows in a few worn spots?

A. — You can often camouflage these worn spots by rubbing over them with a crayon of matching color. And the more ambitious housekeeper can get dye and apply it to the spot with a small piece of sponge.

Facts and Fallacies about Jewelry
by W. D. ORR

FALLACY:
No gem even approaches the diamond in price.
FACT:
While the diamond is, generally speaking, the most valuable of precious stones, there is one which, carat for carat, can be as costly and sometimes even more valuable. That is the corn flower blue sapphire found in Kashmir. One reason for their high value is that the supply of these deep blue sapphires is almost exhausted.
CONCLUSION:
Few can afford a Kashmir sapphire . . . but you will find gorgeous sapphires and diamonds in our jewelry display. We'll be glad to help you choose wisely for lasting pleasure.

6 Canadians Killed In Crash Of Plane

TRENTON, Ont. (AP) — Six Canadian airmen were killed Thursday night when a four-engine Canadian Air Force Hercules transport plane crashed and exploded during a practice landing.

6 Take Tests For Posts At County Home

LISBON — The superintendent of the Columbiana County Home, his predecessor who was discharged, and a County Home "neighbor" took a Civil Service examination at the Courthouse today for the superintendent's position.

Reporting to Charles Betz, examiner for the Department of State Personnel, at 9 a. m. were Supt. Robert Boyd and his wife, Gladys, the home matron; Russell V. Phillips and his wife, Betty, who were superintendent and matron two years ago, and Joe Mattevi and his wife, Rosamond, of Lisbon R. D. 4.

The women took the examination for matron.

The Phillises live south of Salem and the Mattevis on Route 172 at the north edge of the County Home farm.

County commissioners discharged Phillis in the fall of 1965, making several charges. He lost appeals to the State Department of Personnel and Common Pleas Court which upheld the discharge on two of the charges — drinking on duty and mistreatment of patients. Phillis' appeal to Seventh District Court of Appeals was dismissed last month on the court's own motion.

Mr. and Mrs. Phillis served as superintendent and matron at the Carroll County Home for several months after he was dismissed here.

Betz said the examination for matron runs about three hours and that for superintendent, four hours. In addition, he gives an individual oral examination.

He said he will return the examinations to Columbus and the department will score the papers and furnish the county commissioners with the results. He said this will probably take less than a week because only three couples were examined.

Man Charged With Murder In Fatal Fire

CLEVELAND (AP) — A Cleveland man was charged Thursday with setting the fire that killed his mother and two of his sister's children last Friday on the city's West Side.

Police charged Joseph Cooney, 47, with first-degree murder.

He has denied setting the fire they said. He was credited at the time of the fire with playing a hero's role in saving his 8-year-old nephew from the flaming home.

Killed were Susan Schwed, 12, her brother, Danny, 15, and their grandmother, Mrs. Vivian Pitelka, 68.

Cooney said he had been asleep in a downstairs bedroom, was awakened by smoke and helped put a ladder up to a porch to help Randy Schwed escape.

"This is the case of a man who had been pampered by his family over the years and then turned on them," said Lt. Carl Delau, chief of the homicide unit.

They lived in fear of him and felt they had to open their home to him whenever he arrived in town," Delau added.

The children's mother, Mrs. Arlene Schwed, was in Detroit on business at the time of the tragedy, officers said.

The father of the children, Harry Schwed, was in Brecksville Veterans Administration Hospital when he heard of the deaths. He has been ill since his legs were frozen during the Battle of the Bulge in World War II.

Boy Scouts Observe Birthday Of Grant

GEORGETOWN, Ohio (AP)—Boy Scouts from four Brown County towns marched in a parade to observe the 145th birthday of President Ulysses S. Grant late Thursday.

Almost 200 youths took part in the parade that ended in front of the house in which the nation's 18th president lived as a child. Grant was born at Point Pleasant, 20 miles west of here, and his parents moved to Georgetown a few months later.

Out Of The Air

By HAL HUMPHREY

'At The Drop Of Another Hat'

The Broadway hit, "At the Drop of Another Hat," closed last month but last week the entire cast — Michael Flanders and Donald Swann — taped the almost - two - hour musical lark for one-hour excerpting on CBS-TV next season.

On the day of camera rehearsal in Studio 50, Ed Sullivan's theater, the two Englishmen were trying to be as polite as they possibly could while the material they have done for months, lightly satirical song and chatter done with modern Gilbert & Sullivan virtuosity and charm, was being stopped a thousand times for technical adjustments.

SWANN is a meek and mild man, sort of a British Wally Cox, a pacifist with such a retiring manner that he seems to apologize as he walks. He took the stop-and-go, wait - for - the - director procedure with Christian - martyr equanamity.

Flanders is bearded and bluff as a pirate, and he tooled his polio - afflicted body furiously around in his wheel chair, muttering under his breath at the exasperatingly snail's progress of the rehearsal and the waiting without knowing what the problems are (director Ted Kotcheff, sometimes swearing in Bulgarian, was out of sight in the control room).

"Hold it, please!" was the shout most often heard as Flanders & Swann inched through some of their material — "Los Olivadados," a gem of parallelism between the ritual of bullfighting and stuffed-olive preparation, a Russian song that is a spoof of Russian songs and a chilling dirge about overkill, "Twenty Tons of TNT," which is the nuclear equivalent portion of death now stockpiled for every man, woman and child on earth.

THE FIVE color cameras would stop poking around. A cameraman would explain or argue into his mouthpiece. Other technicians would pick up the thread of their continuing nonwork conversation.

The set, by the way, which consisted of a piano and a lamp for the legitimate - stage production, now also had one wing chair, one end table, four hatracks, one hat stand and two potted palms.

A helpful CBS hand explained that the performing team was splitting immediately after the taping. Swann flying to England and Flanders remaining in the States.

-:-

And Producer Jacqueline Babbin of Talent Associates talked a little of the problems of translating a production from stage to television.

The idea was to keep everything simple but to give visual movement to an essentially static show, she said, reminding that the audience selects what it wants to see on the stage but that the cameras select for TV.

During another interruption, a production assistant asked Flanders if she could get him anything. "Just give us another 24-hour day," he replied testily.

HE REMOVED the dark glasses that protected his eyes against the lights most of the time. The two performers began their diet number, which has extraordinary throwaway puns like "the immortal Beard' (Shakespeare) and "But just one piece of shortcake and you'll get your just desserts."

Miss Babbin, a handsome woman who could pass for a suburban matron, continues. The entire Broadway show was being taped, she said, but the too special and too British will be cut from the American TV program. Flanders & Swann will get the unused half of their show to do with what they want.

A special hand-picked TV studio audience had been selected to view the taping, chosen with the aid of British Information Services, local schools and publishing houses.

-:-

MISS BABBIN reported less conflict with CBS censors than she encountered during "The Crucible." "God rot 'em" was changed to "Lord rot em.

On stage, the interruptions were getting as frequent as the commercials on the "Today" show. Flanders was florid with annoyance. Finally at still another interruption, he snorted: "AFTRA gave up too soon!"

Colorado is nicknamed the "Centennial State" because it was admitted to the Union in 1876, 100th anniversary of American independence.

Keep In Trim

By IDA JEAN KAIN

Critical Remarks Change To Praise

If you are past young middle age and have a considerable amount of weight to lose to bring your weight to healthy normal, be prepared for concerned remarks from your friends. At some point in your reducing course you may not look as vital and blooming to your friends as you did when you were amply padded with fat.

Ida Jean Kain

As long as your doctor approves of your progress, do not allow adverse remarks to upset you. If you reduce on a protective pattern of eating, one that furnishes adequate amounts of the replenishing nutrients, you will look like your young self again and you will then be the envy instead of the concern of your friends. A dieter writes:

"My experience may help other dieters. At a luncheon I heard a woman say to her friend, 'You're looking older. I'd stop this reducing nonsense if I were you.' The effect of that remark on the dieter was devastating. The joy went out of her face. That remark prompted me to tell my story.

-:-

"SIX YEARS ago I decided to take off my exces weight. . . after being overweight all my life. I sent for your calorie chart and started reducing. I did not tell anyone for the simple reason that people are so apt to discourage rather than encourage a dieter.

"I am a widow and live alone so I could do as I pleased, planning low calorie meals without having it affect anyone. I took off 50 ugly pounds.

"My friends started talking to me, telling me how badly I looked, how much weight I had lost and seemed concerned about my health. Then I told them what I had been doing and asked them to give me a little time to adjust and look good to them again.

"Now these same friends tell me how wonderful I look. They wish they had the will power to reduce. Because of my new, improved food habits, I have kept my weight at 142 pounds. I am 5'5" tall and in my mid-fifties.

-:-

"I GO TO business every day and do my own housework. I feel great and I'm so much happier with myself at this weight. I had to buy a complete new wardrobe and what fun I had doing it. I know I will live longer and better for eating properly."

What a woman! She did not talk about her diet. She had the courage to follow through and reduce to normal weight despite adverse remarks from friends. She had the good sense not to attempt ultra streamlines. And she held the weightline!

Supervisor Urges More Join In Food Stamp Plan

LISBON — Wilbur Warren appealed to Kiwanians Thursday to help interest needy persons and families in participating in the federal food stamp program in Columbiana County.

"Tell them this is not a relief or giveaway program and pensioners and wage - earners are eligible under certain conditions."

Warren, former mayor of Lisbon, is supervisor of the program which the county initiated Dec. 1 to replace the surplus food program. He said the stamp program, while a great deal more work, is superior to the surplus commodity program.

Warren spoke at the club's luncheon meeting in St. George parish hall.

He pointed to the difficulty "of getting the food stamp idea to the people who need it." He said he believes there are as many people eligible for the program as are presently enrolled.

Low - income persons may obtain particulars at this office in the county Welfare Department building on E. Washington St.

There are 11 banks — more than in any county in Ohio — selling the stamps, Warren said, and 95 groceries accept the stamps in place of cash.

Dan Myers, president, introduced the speaker.

Myers presented the club's first Match Pin (new member bring a new member) to Ralph Guappone.

Karl Stoudt, representing the International Relations Committee, read excerpts from an article about Canada and the United States Goodwill Week which ends Saturday.

Guests included Donald Roberts, director of the County Mental Health Clinic; Donald Morris, and three members of the Key Club at David Anderson High School — D. G. Edgerton, David Miller and Walter Little.

Edgarton reported 15 Lisbon youths attended the recent state Key Club convention in Cleveland. He said the Kiwanis-sponsored high school club received the state's first - place achievement award, succeeding Mingo Junction, which had been the leader several years.

Manager Dave Bristol of the Cincinnati Reds is a former history teacher.

ELHS Approved; Association Cites Minor Deviations

East Liverpool High School has been placed on the approved list for secondary schools for another year by the North Central Association.

The association listed some "minor deviations" in the report. It was pointed out, however, the deviations were "not sufficient to justify a warning."

Listed were staff members who are teaching with temporary certificates, the present building site and buildings, community support and the school library.

The present site and buildings were not listed as satisfactory because the association declares all schools should be free of traffic hazards. In the community support, the association cited the defeat of a school levy.

The library does not have enough volumes or seating to meet top standards, the association report stated.

Utility Service Will Continue At East Palestine

EAST PALESTINE — Mayor Robert Harding today announced that an agreement has been reached with the East Ohio Gas Co. for the utility to continue 24-hour service in the community.

A meeting was held Thursday afternoon with Ray Lohr, Youngstown district manager.

Previously, the utility had announced plans to close its local office July 1, with service calls to be hauled out of Youngstown. The present agent, Charles McGuire, will continue to work here for an indefinite period. When he retires, the utility will name another agent.

Kiwanians Hear Salvation Army Cadet Program

Training of Salvation Army officers at the eastern regional school at New York was described during the meeting of the Kiwanis Club Thursday at the Travelers Hotel.

The women presented a timbrel drill and sang. A trio also sang.

Slidies of the training school and a description of the two-year training period were presented.

Capt. Richard Bosh of the city Citadel was program chairman.

Out Of The Air

By HAL HUMPHREY

'At The Drop Of Another Hat'

The Broadway hit, "At the Drop of Another Hat," closed last month but last week the entire cast — Michael Flanders and Donald Swann — taped the almost - two - hour musical lark for one-hour excerpting on CBS-TV next season.

On the day of camera rehearsal in Studio 50, Ed Sullivan's theater, the two Englishmen were trying to be as polite as they possibly could while the material they have done for months, lightly satirical song and chatter done with modern Gilbert & Sullivan virtuosity and charm, was being stopped a thousand times for technical adjustments.

SWANN is a meek and mild man, sort of a British Wally Cox, a pacifist with such a retiring manner that he seems to apologize as he walks. He took the stop-and-go, wait - for - the - director procedure with Christian - martyr equanamity.

Flanders is bearded and bluff as a pirate, and he tooled his polio - afflicted body furiously around in his wheel chair, muttering under his breath at the exasperatingly snail's progress of the rehearsal and the waiting without knowing what the problems are (director Ted Kotcheff, sometimes swearing in Bulgarian, was out of sight in the control room).

"Hold it, please!" was the shout most often heard as Flanders & Swann inched through some of their material — "Los Olivadados," a gem of parallelism between the ritual of bullfighting and stuffed-olive preparation, a Russian song that is a spoof of Russian songs and a chilling dirge about overkill, "Twenty Tons of TNT," which is the nuclear equivalent portion of death now stockpiled for every man, woman and child on earth.

THE FIVE color cameras would stop poking around. A cameraman would explain or argue into his mouthpiece. Other technicians would pick up the thread of their continuing nonwork conversation.

The set, by the way, which consisted of a piano and a lamp for the legitimate - stage production, now also had one wing chair, one end table, four hatracks, one hat stand and two potted palms.

A helpful CBS hand explained that the performing team was splitting immediately after the taping. Swann flying to England and Flanders remaining in the States.

-:-

And Producer Jacqueline Babbin of Talent Associates talked a little of the problems of translating a production from stage to television.

The idea was to keep everything simple but to give visual movement to an essentially static show, she said, reminding that the audience selects what it wants to see on the stage but that the cameras select for TV.

During another interruption, a production assistant asked Flanders if she could get him anything. "Just give us another 24-hour day," he replied testily.

HE REMOVED the dark glasses that protected his eyes against the lights most of the time. The two performers began their diet number, which has extraordinary throwaway puns like "the immortal Beard" (Shakespeare) and "But just one piece of shortcake and you'll get your just desserts."

Miss Babbin, a handsome woman who could pass for a suburban matron, continues. The entire Broadway show was being taped, she said, but the too special and too British will be cut from the American TV program. Flanders & Swann will get the unused half of their show to do with what they want.

A special hand-picked TV studio audience had been selected to view the taping, chosen with the aid of British Information Services, local schools and publishing houses.

-:-

MISS BABBIN reported less conflict with CBS censors than she encountered during "The Crucible." "God rot 'em" was changed to "Lord rot em."

On stage, the interruptions were getting as frequent as the commercials on the "Today" show. Flanders was florid with annoyance. Finally at still another interruption, he snorted: "AFTRA gave up too soon!"

Colorado is nicknamed the "Centennial State" because it was admitted to the Union in 1876, 100th anniversary of American independence.

ELHS Approved: Association Cites Minor Deviations

East Liverpool High School has been placed on the approved list for secondary schools for another year by the North Central Association.

The association listed some "minor deviations" in the report. It was pointed out, however, the deviations were "not sufficient to justify a warning."

Listed were staff members who are teaching with temporary certificates, the present building site and buildings, community support and the school library.

The present site and buildings were not listed as satisfactory because the association declares all schools should be free of traffic hazards. In the community support, the association cited the defeat of a school levy.

The library does not have enough volumes or seating to meet top standards, the association report stated.

Utility Service Will Continue At East Palestine

EAST PALESTINE — Mayor Robert Harding today announced that an agreement has been reached with the East Ohio Gas Co. for the utility to continue 24-hour service in the community.

A meeting was held Thursday afternoon with Ray Lohr, Youngstown district manager.

Previously, the utility had announced plans to close its local office July 1, with service calls to be hauled out of Youngstown. The present agent, Charles McGuire, will continue to work here for an indefinite period. When he retires, the utility will name another agent.

Keep In Trim

By IDA JEAN KAIN

Critical Remarks Change To Praise

If you are past young middle age and have a considerable amount of weight to lose to bring your weight to healthy normal, be prepared for concerned remarks from your friends. At some point in your reducing course you may not look as vital and blooming to your friends as you did when you were amply padded with fat.

Ida Jean Kain

As long as your doctor approves of your progress, do not allow adverse remarks to upset you. If you reduce on a protective pattern of eating, one that furnishes adequate amounts of the replenishing nutrients, you will look like your young self again and you will then be the envy instead of the concern of your friends. A dieter writes:

"My experience may help other dieters. At a luncheon I heard a woman say to her friend, 'You're looking older. I'd stop this reducing nonsense if I were you.' The effect of that remark on the dieter was devastating. The joy went out of her face. That remark prompted me to tell my story.

—:—

"SIX YEARS ago I decided to take off my exces weight. . . after being overweight all my life. I sent for your calorie chart and started reducing. I did not tell anyone for the simple reason that people are so apt to discourage rather than encourage a dieter.

"I am a widow and live alone so I could do as I pleased, planning low calorie meals without having it affect anyone. I took off 50 ugly pounds.

"My friends started talking to me, telling me how badly I looked, how much weight I had lost and seemed concerned about my health. Then I told them what I had been doing and asked them to give me a little time to adjust and look good to them again.

"Now these same friends tell me how wonderful I look. They wish they had the will power to reduce. Because of my new, improved food habits, I have kept my weight at 142 pounds. I am 5'5" tall and in my mid-fifties.

—:—

"I GO TO business every day and do my own housework. I feel great and I'm so much happier with myself at this weight. I had to buy a complete new wardrobe and what fun I had doing it. I know I will live longer and better for eating properly."

What a woman! She did not talk about her diet. She had the courage to follow through and reduce to normal weight despite adverse remarks from friends. She had the good sense not to attempt ultra streamlines. And she held the weightline!

Supervisor Urges More Join In Food Stamp Plan

LISBON — Wilbur Warren appealed to Kiwanians Thursday to help interest needy persons and families in participating in the federal food stamp program in Columbiana County.

"Tell them this is not a relief or giveaway program and pensioners and wage - earners are eligible under certain conditions."

Warren, former mayor of Lisbon, is supervisor of the program which the county initiated Dec. 1 to replace the surplus food program. He said the stamp program, while a great deal more work, is superior to the surplus commodity program.

Warren spoke at the club's luncheon meeting in St. George parish hall.

He pointed to the difficulty "of getting the food stamp idea to the people who need it." He said he believes there are as many people eligible for the program as are presently enrolled.

Low - income persons may obtain particulars at this office in the county Welfare Department building on E. Washington St.

There are 11 banks — more than in any county in Ohio—selling the stamps, Warren said, and 95 groceries accept the stamps in place of cash.

Dan Myers, president, introduced the speaker.

Myers presented the club's first Match Pin (new member bring a new member) to Ralph Guappone.

Karl Stoudt, representing the International Relations Committee, read excerpts from an article about Canada and the United States Goodwill Week which ends Saturday.

Guests included Donald Roberts, director of the County Mental Health Clinic; Donald Morris, and three members of the Key Club at David Anderson High School — D. G. Edgerton, David Miller and Walter Little.

Edgarton reported 15 Lisbon youths attended the recent state Key Club convention in Cleveland. He said the Kiwanis-sponsored high school club received the state's first - place achievement award, succeeding Mingo Junction, which had been the leader several years.

Manager Dave Bristol of the Cincinnati Reds is a former history teacher.

Kiwanians Hear Salvation Army Cadet Program

Training of Salvation Army officers at the eastern regional school at New York was described during the meeting of the Kiwanis Club Thursday at the Travelers Hotel.

The women presented a timbrel drill and sang. A trio also sang.

Slides of the training school and a description of the two-year training period were presented.

Capt. Richard Bosh of the city Citadel was program chairman.

Rowland Kaufman, secretary, distributed perfect attendance pins to Kiwanians.

Ann Landers

ANSWERS YOUR PROBLEMS

Dear Ann Landers: I decided a few weeks ago that if I received one more ridiculous thank-you note I would write to you. Today is the day. It arrived in this morning's mail. Here it is:

"I am just a teeny weeny baby so of course I can't write yet but my mommie is writing for me. She says the little dress you sent is the prettiest one in my wardrobe. I think it is, too. I just love pink.

"I hope you will come and see how nice I look in my pretty pink dress. But please call before you come because I sleep quite a lot and I want to be up from my nap when you come to see me. Love, — Linda Sue."

Isn't that nauseating? Why do mothers think they have to be so cute? Would you call this bad taste, stupidity or what? Please comment. — HASTEN JASON BRING THE BASIN.

Dear Jason: Personally, I don't care for cutesey, previous thank-you notes but at least you received an expression of appreciation.

Every week I get dozens of letters from people who wonder why their wedding gifts, graduation gifts, baby gifts, Christmas, Easter and birthday gifts are not even acknowledged.

Happy Helper

Dear Ann: Frequently I read in your column complaints from pseudo - masculine husbands who think housework is for sissies.

I boil when I think of the bums whose wives hold down jobs, run homes and raise families, while they put in an eight-hour day and then hide behind the newspaper or TV.

I am proud to say I share the household duties with my wife and do everything I can to help, including ironing. I have not developed any mammary glands or other feminine characteristics. Nobody ever has called me a pantywaist, at least not to my face.

Fathers should not worry about their sons' being sissies if they do housework. They should be concerned with raising young men who can help their wives without feeling that their masculinity is being threatened. — CHAMPAIGN, ILL.

Dear Champ: Every working wife in the U.S.A. will love you for your stand. Thanks for writing.

Knows The Score

Dear Ann: I almost croaked when I read the letter from the 13-year-old girl who said she had been in love three times. She signed herself: "This Time It's Real."

I'm 15 and I know the difference between a crush and infatuation. Any girl who is in love with her English teacher one week and the paper boy the next week has got to be wingy. Then she talks about feeling dizzy and not being able to eat. Maybe the poor kid has the flu.

I hope the girl clipped out that silly column and that she will read it again when she is 18. She'll have a good laugh. Sign me — I CAN WAIT.

Dear ICW: You have a smart head on those 15-year-old shoulders. Young kids who think they are in love, then try to live the past as they see it portrayed in the movies, end up sad and sorry. Congratulations on your good sense.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of The Review, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Tribe's McDowell Beats Twins With Smith's Assist

Queen 3-Hits Giants As Reds Regain NL Lead

'Sudden Sam' Whiffs 12 In Second Win

CLEVELAND (AP) — Sam McDowell has his second victory of the season, but even with 12 strikeouts it took a big assist from Willie Smith for the fireballing southpaw to accomplish it.

Smith batted for McDowell in the eighth and his double drove in the run that broke a 4-4 tie to give the Cleveland Indians a 5-4 decision over the Minnesota Twins in the only action in the American League Thursday.

McDowell blanked the Twins on three hits and struck out 10 in the first five innings, while the Indians built up a 4-0 lead.

Then, in pitching coach Clay Bryant's opinion, "Sam tried to reach back for something extra and it almost cost him the game.

"The worst part of it," continued Bryant, "is that McDowell doesn't need anything extra. Sam has more than enough for anybody just throwing with his natural motion."

Bryant said it was the best he had seen McDowell, "at least it was until the sixth when he tried to reach for something extra."

McDowell retired the first two men in the sixth and then walked Andy Kosco and Harmon Killebrew. Then Bob Allison hit a home run over the left-field fence.

The Twins tied the score in the seventh on Cesar Tovar's single and a double by Rich Rollins.

Cleveland had jumped in front with a run in the second and three more in the fifth.

Smith's winning double scored Gus Gil, who also had doubled.

George Culver pitched the ninth inning for Cleveland.

McDowell said Allison hit his third homer of the season off a low fast ball.

"It was a good one and it was where I wanted it," said the 24-year-old lefty. "That's one I wouldn't take back if I could. You have to give him credit. It was my best pitch."

McDowell wasted no time on the mound and made a total of 128 pitches, but only 72 through the first five innings.

"I'm finding that as I pitch faster I concentrate more," he said. "I guess that was my best game so far this year, but I have to get better.

"I saw some of their hitters changing on me but I wasn't smart enough to go along with them. I should have known better and I will next time."

The other scheduled American League game, California at Baltimore, was rained out.

In the National League, Chicago beat New York 3-0, Cincinnati edged San Francisco 3-2, Pittsburgh nipped Philadelphia 5-4, Houston topped St. Louis 6-4 and Los Angeles blanked Atlanta 6-0.

Pirates Nudge Phils, Astros Topple Cards

By MIKE RECHT
Associated Press Sports Writer

Mel Queen was such a poor hitter as an outfielder he turned to pitching, and now he is passing on his meager batting average to others.

The right-handed Cincinnati hurler has taken particular interest in San Francisco with his gift-giving treatment that has turned the slugging Giants into hitless pigmies.

Queen stumped the Giants on three hits and one run for seven innings Thursday as the Reds won 3-2 and retook first place in the National League from the St. Louis Cardinals.

The Cardinals fell back when Houston scored five runs in the seventh inning and held on for a 6-4 triumph, breaking a 10-game losing streak.

Elsewhere in the National League, Claude Osteen pitched Los Angeles past Atlanta 6-0, Ferguson Jenkins of the Chicago Cubs halted the New York Mets 3-0 and Pittsburgh nudged Philadelphia 5-4.

The 25-year-old Queen, who first passed on his bad hitting habits to the Giants by blanking them on six-hits 6-0 in his only other major league start April 16, got his message across to everyone but Willie McCovey. McCovey homered in the seventh.

Queen, now 30, left after walking the first man in the eighth, leading 3-1 on Deron Johnson's sixth homer with a man on off loser Gaylord Perry and Vada Pinson's run-scoring hit. Reliever Ted Abernathy finished the lesson.

Queen, a relief pitcher who only got into the starting rotation because Jim Maloney suffered shoulder trouble, came into the major leagues as an outfielder with a strong throwing arm three years ago.

His below .200 batting average did not set the Reds afire. So, he returned to the mound for the first time since high school.

"Almost any outfielder at times would like to be a pitcher, especially when he's not hitting," said Queen, whose father, Mel Queen, pitched for the New York Yankees and Pirates in the 1940s and 1950s. Queen relieved in seven games in 1966, but had only a 6.43 earned run average.

But he pitched last winter in Venezuela and learned "to throw like a pitcher and not an outfielder" and now he is pitching like a pitcher and the hitters are hitting like him.

Bob Gibson was lowering Houston averages for six innings before Joe Morgan, who earlier broke an 0 for 24 slump, cracked a three-run triple off reliever Hal Woodeshick after Gibson loaded the bases with none out in the seventh.

The Astros added two more runs in the inning for a 5-2 lead and then stopped a two-run Cardinal rally in the eighth.

Osteen, 3-1, allowed only two Braves past first base as he shortened some bats with a four-hitter supported by Ron Hunt's run-scoring single and three-run double. But the Dodgers lost Lou Johnson for 10 to 12 weeks when he fractured an ankle sliding home in the first inning.

Ferguson Jenkins leveled the New York Mets with a three-hitter and 10 strikeouts for his third victory without a defeat. Ron Santo ended an 0 for 17 streak by doubling home the first run.

Jesse Gonder broke a 4-4 tie with a run-scoring single in the eighth inning for Pittsburgh. The Pirates tied the game in the seventh by scoring two runs on a wild pitch and a wild throw. Donn Clendenon homered for the Pirates.

Champ Will Never Go To Jail, Attorneys Say

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — "The champ will never go to jail," attorneys for Cassius Clay insisted today as they prepared to continue the legal battle for the heavyweight champion against the government's military draft.

"We plan to refile our suit immediately after Clay refuses induction," said Quinnan Hodges of Houston, one of Clay's two attorneys. "It may be a long, drawn-out procedure, but it's one we're confident we'll win."

"We're sure of a final victory," added Hayden Covington of New York. "Muhammad will never be put behind bars."

The heavyweight champion, known as Muhammad Ali to his Black Muslim brothers, reports today at the Customs House here for induction into the military service.

He emphasized that he would go through the physical and mental tests but would balk when asked to take one step forward, the symbol of entering the service.

"I will go to jail first — I will die for my religion," Clay said.

The champion lost a final effort Thursday to avoid criminal action resulting from his refusal to serve — an action punishable by a $10,000 fine, five years in prison, or both. Prison terms are the normal procedure.

Clay's attorneys sought a temporary restraining order in U.S. District Court but Judge Allen B. Hannay held he had no reason to tie the government's hands.

The champion's 1A draft status had been upheld previously in a federal court at Louisville, Ky., and the U.S. Appeals Court in Cincinnati. The U.S. Supreme Court twice refused to review the case.

Attorneys for the champion have filed a 67-page lawsuit challenging the structure of the entire Selective Service System. They contend Clay was discriminated against because of the unpopularity of the Black Muslim religion and that he wasn't given a fair deal by Texas draft boards without Negro representation.

This will form the basis of the new suit plus the supplemental argument that Clay, having failed to enter the service, has exhausted all his administrative recourses, opening the door for new legal action. Clay seeks exemption as a Black Muslim minister.

U.S. Atty. Morton Susman, whose job will be to file criminal action against Clay once he has refused induction, admitted that the proceedings might take weeks and months before he can get an indictment.

"Cassius will be free to keep on fighting and preaching," Susman said.

Clay, wearing a continental-cut blue suit, appeared on the witness stand for more than an hour in his own behalf Thursday. Speaking calmly and seriously, he told of his conversion to the Islam faith and his sincerity in it.

"I have already lost some $5 million because of my religious beliefs and they say I'll lose $10 million more," he said. "People don't think I am serious. I assure you I am."

He said he resented the fact that he would be treated as a criminal.

"I'm not a criminal. I've never been in jail," he said. "I am one of 750 million Muslims. We don't believe in war unless it is a holy war ordered by Allah."

Cage Tourney Ends In 'Red'

The Blue and White Nonpareil Club went "in the red" in the basketball tournament sponsored this month.

This was reported during this week's meeting of the organization.

Profit from the affair was to have been used to help defray the cost of the erection of 14 outside basketball courts.

Members of the club, Basketball Coach Clint McConnell and several other interested residents have been working on the project. The East Liverpool Athletic Board has allocated $674.42 to cover the cost of the courts.

Some local and area businesses have donated material and labor to help supplement the program.

Films of the 1966 World Series and "How to Play Winning Baseball" will be shown by the club tonight at 7 at the Elks ballroom, with the public invited to attend free of charge.

Films of the 1955 undefeated ELHS football team will be shown at the next meeting by Jim Potts, the date to be announced. All members and the general public are urged to attend.

Mention was made at this week's meeting of the football clinic to be conducted here May 12 and 13 by members of the Vanderbilt coaching staff.

Van Breda Kolff New Laker Coach With Schaus GM

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The Los Angeles Lakers, after their worst season since moving here from Minneapolis seven years ago, have tapped Willem (Bill or Butch) van Breda Kolff to lead them back to prominence in the National Basketball Association.

Van Breda Kolff, an ex-Marine with a brilliant college record, including four Ivy League titles in the past five years at Princeton, was officially named coach of the Lakers at a news conference Thursday.

The new coach has a three-year contract and, though terms were not disclosed, reports were Wednesday, when van Breda Kolff's impending appointment became known, that the pact called for $30,000 a year.

Meanwhile, Fred Schaus, who coached the Lakers since their arrival on the West Coast, will move up to general manager, succeeding Lou Mohs.

Bowling Meeting Set

A meeting will be held Wednesday at 3 p.m. at the Friendly Bowling Lanes for women interested in participating in a summer league.

Beavers Win As Petkovich Raps Homer

Mike Piatt pitched for the Beavers, giving up five hits and single runs in the fourth and fifth. Springfield committed three errors in the fourth behind the pitching of Bob Schultz.

Hawkins To Play With Pittsburgh In New Pro Loop

PITTSBURGH (AP)— Connie Hawkins is returning to professional basketball after a four-year absence.

The 24-year-old 6-foot-8 former Pittsburgh Rens star was signed Thursday to a contract with the Pittsburgh entry in the fledgling American Basketball Association.

Hawkins earned most valuable player honors with Pittsburgh in the American Basketball League before the league folded in 1963.

Since that time he has been playing with an assortment of independent teams, including the Harlem Globetrotters.

He tried to get into the National Basketball Association but couldn't find a team which would take him. Last year he filed a lawsuit against the league, charging it with blacklisting him.

Hawkins dropped out of the University of Iowa in his first year for scholastic and financial reasons.

Midland Grid Star Heading For Nebraska

Jim Smith, stand-out Midland High School football player has sighed a Big 8 letter of intent to enroll at the University of Nebraska in the fall, Don Bryant, director of the sports information office, has announced.

Nebraska has won the Big 8 conference title four straight years and the Cornhuskers have appeared in five consecutive post-season bowl games.

Coach Bob Devaney of Nebraska, the winningest coach in the nation with a 45-5-0 record at Nebraska the last five years, said "We are very happy James Smith has made his decision to gain his education and play football at the University of Nebraska. Jim is a fine player and a fine young man and we are looking forward to working with him during his Cornhusker career."

Smith starred as an offensive half-back and a defensive linebacker for Midland's Lincoln High School. The university is situated at Lincoln, Nebraska.

2 Share Lead In Texas Open

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) — Two pros without a tournament victory this year share the lead in the windswept $100,000 Texas Open.

Diminutive Puerto Rican Chi Chi Rodriguez and cigar-chewing Joe Campbell, ranked 56th and 59th respectively in PGA earnings this year, shot 68s to grab the first-round lead Thursday.

But a swarm of other pros, including sixth-ranked Bert Yancey, were on the heels of the leaders with 69s. Others at one stroke off the pace were Bert Weaver, Richard Crawford, Jay Hebert and Charles Coody. Nine pros shot one-under-par 70s and 14 were even par.

Campbell, the 1966 Tucson Open winner, said a stiff wind just reversed the course from the way it was played during warmup rounds. He said players were forced to use woods where irons were enough on Wednesday.

But the wind didn't affect Campbell's putting. The brawny Tansi, Tenn., pro dropped birdie putts of 20, 18, 8 and 5 feet and just missed a 35-foot eagle putt when he left it inches short. He tapped in for another birdie.

Rodriguez, one of the smallest men on the tour at 125 pounds, was a big man with short irons around the greens. He chipped to within two feet on the 13th hole and dropped it for a birdie. Two other birdies came after he chipped to within three feet. He also sank putts of 10 and 8 feet for two more sub-par holes.

They contend Clay was discriminated against because of the unpopularity of the Black Muslim religion and that he wasn't given a fair deal by Texas draft boards without Negro representation.

This will form the basis of the new suit plus the supplemental argument that Clay, having failed to enter the service, has exhausted all his administrative recourses, opening the door for new legal action. Clay seeks exemption as a Black Muslim minister.

U.S. Atty. Morton Susman, whose job will be to file criminal action against Clay once he has refused induction, admitted that the proceedings might take weeks and months before he can get an indictment.

"Cassius will be free to keep on fighting and preaching," Susman said.

Clay, wearing a continental-cut blue suit, appeared on the witness stand for more than an hour in his own behalf Thursday. Speaking calmly and seriously, he told of his conversion to the Islam faith and his sincerity in it.

"I have already lost some $5 million because of my religious beliefs and they say I'll lose $10 million more," he said. "People don't think I am serious. I assure you I am."

He said he resented the fact that he would be treated as a criminal.

"I'm not a criminal. I've never been in jail," he said. "I am one of 750 million Muslims. We don't believe in war unless it is a holy war ordered by Allah."

2 Share Lead In Texas Open

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) — Two pros without a tournament victory this year share the lead in the windswept $100,000 Texas Open.

Diminutive Puerto Rican Chi Chi Rodriguez and cigar-chewing Joe Campbell, ranked 56th and 59th respectively in PGA earnings this year, shot 68s to grab the first-round lead Thursday.

But a swarm of other pros, including sixth-ranked Bert Yancey, were on the heels of the leaders with 69s. Others at one stroke off the pace were Bert Weaver, Richard Crawford, Jay Hebert and Charles Coody. Nine pros shot one-under-par 70s and 14 were even par.

Campbell, the 1966 Tucson Open winner, said a stiff wind just reversed the course from the way it was played during warmup rounds. He said players were forced to use woods where irons were enough on Wednesday.

But the wind didn't affect Campbell's putting. The brawny Tansi, Tenn., pro dropped birdie putts of 20, 18, 8 and 5 feet and just missed a 35-foot eagle putt when he left it inches short. He tapped in for another birdie.

Rodriguez, one of the smallest men on the tour at 125 pounds, was a big man with short irons around the greens. He chipped to within two feet on the 13th hole and dropped it for a birdie. Two other birdies came after he chipped to within three feet. He also sank putts of 10 and 8 feet for two more sub-par holes.

Cage Tourney Ends In 'Red'

The Blue and White Nonpareil Club went "in the red" in the basketball tournament sponsored this month.

This was reported during this week's meeting of the organization.

Profit from the affair was to have been used to help defray the cost of the erection of 14 outside basketball courts.

Members of the club, Basketball Coach Clint McConnell and several other interested residents have been working on the project. The East Liverpool Athletic Board has allocated $674.42 to cover the cost of the courts.

Some local and area businesses have donated material and labor to help supplement the program.

Films of the 1966 World Series and "How to Play Winning Baseball" will be shown by the club tonight at 7 at the Elks ballroom, with the public invited to attend free of charge.

Films of the 1955 undefeated ELHS football team will be shown at the next meeting by Jim Potts, the date to be announced. All members and the general public are urged to attend.

Mention was made at this week's meeting of the football clinic to be conducted here May 12 and 13 by members of the Vanderbilt coaching staff.

Van Breda Kolff New Laker Coach With Schaus GM

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The Los Angeles Lakers, after their worst season since moving here from Minneapolis seven years ago, have tapped Willem (Bill or Butch) van Breda Kolff to lead them back to prominence in the National Basketball Association.

Van Breda Kolff, an ex-Marine with a brilliant college record, including four Ivy League titles in the past five years at Princeton, was officially named coach of the Lakers at a news conference Thursday.

The new coach has a three-year contract and, though terms were not disclosed, reports were Wednesday, when van Breda Kolff's impending appointment became known, that the pact called for $30,000 a year.

Meanwhile, Fred Schaus, who coached the Lakers since their arrival on the West Coast, will move up to general manager, succeeding Lou Mohs.

Bowling Meeting Set

A meeting will be held Wednesday at 3 p.m. at the Friendly Bowling Lanes for women interested in participating in a summer league.

Pirates Nudge Phils, Astros Topple Cards

By MIKE RECHT
Associated Press Sports Writer

Mel Queen was such a poor hitter as an outfielder he turned to pitching, and now he is passing on his meager batting average to others.

The right-handed Cincinnati hurler has taken particular interest in San Francisco with his gift-giving treatment that has turned the slugging Giants into hitless pigmies.

Queen stumped the Giants on three hits and one run for seven innings Thursday as the Reds won 3-2 and retook first place in the National League from the St. Louis Cardinals.

The Cardinals fell back when Houston scored five runs in the seventh inning and held on for a 6-4 triumph, breaking a 10-game losing streak.

Elsewhere in the National League, Claude Osteen pitched Los Angeles past Atlanta 6-0, Ferguson Jenkins of the Chicago Cubs halted the New York Mets 3-0 and Pittsburgh nudged Philadelphia 5-4.

The 25-year-old Queen, who first passed on his bad hitting habits to the Giants by blanking them on six-hits 6-0 in his only other major league start April 16, got his message across to everyone but Willie McCovey. McCovey homered in the seventh.

Queen, now 30, left after walking the first man in the eighth, leading 3-1 on Deron Johnson's sixth homer with a man on off loser Gaylord Perry and Vada Pinson's run-scoring hit. Reliever Ted Abernathy finished the lesson.

Queen, a relief pitcher who only got into the starting rotation because Jim Maloney suffered shoulder trouble, came into the major leagues as an outfielder with a strong throwing arm three years ago.

His below .200 batting average did not set the Reds afire. So, he returned to the mound for the first time since high school.

"Almost any outfielder at times would like to be a pitcher, especially when he's not hitting," said Queen, whose father, Mel Queen, pitched for the New York Yankees and Pirates in the 1940s and 1950s. Queen relieved in seven games in 1966, but had only a 6.43 earned run average.

But he pitched last winter in Venezuela and learned "to throw like a pitcher and not an outfielder" and now he is pitching like a pitcher and the hitters are hitting like him.

Bob Gibson was lowering Houston averages for six innings before Joe Morgan, who earlier broke an 0 for 24 slump, cracked a three-run triple off reliever Hal Woodeshick after Gibson loaded the bases with none out in the seventh.

The Astros added two more runs in the inning for a 5-2 lead and then stopped a two-run Cardinal rally in the eighth.

Osteen, 3-1, allowed only two Braves past first base as he shortened some bats with a four-hitter supported by Ron Hunt's run-scoring single and three-run double. But the Dodgers lost Lou Johnson for 10 to 12 weeks when he fractured an ankle sliding home in the first inning.

Ferguson Jenkins leveled the New York Mets with a three-hitter and 10 strikeouts for his third victory without a defeat. Ron Santo ended an 0 for 17 streak by doubling home the first run.

Jesse Gonder broke a 4-4 tie with a run-scoring single in the eighth inning for Pittsburgh. The Pirates tied the game in the seventh by scoring two runs on a wild pitch and a wild throw. Donn Clendenon homered for the Pirates.

Mike Piatt pitched for the Beavers, giving up five hits and single runs in the fourth and fifth. Springfield committed three errors in the fourth behind the pitching of Bob Schultz.

Hawkins To Play With Pittsburgh In New Pro Loop

PITTSBURGH (AP)— Connie Hawkins is returning to professional basketball after a four-year absence.

The 24-year-old 6-foot-8 former Pittsburgh Rens star was signed Thursday to a contract with the Pittsburgh entry in the fledgling American Basketball Association.

Hawkins earned most valuable player honors with Pittsburgh in the American Basketball League before the league folded in 1963.

Since that time he has been playing with an assortment of independent teams, including the Harlem Globetrotters.

He tried to get into the National Basketball Association but couldn't find a team which would take him. Last year he filed a lawsuit against the league, charging it with blacklisting him.

Hawkins dropped out of the University of Iowa in his first year for scholastic and financial reasons.

Ohio Gridder 'Trains' On Scotch, Cigarettes

CINCINNATI (AP) — One player on the Xavier University football team "trains" on scotch and cigarettes.

Coach Ed Biles says that's all right with him — as long as the player, Mario Bolanos of San Jose, Costa Rica, keeps kicking 50-yard field goals, soccer-style, with either foot.

"I'm probably the only football coach in America who recruited a player with a pack of cigarettes," Biles laughs.

Bolanos transferred to Xavier last year and came out for football as a specialist. But he quit the team after the first game, saying it was too rough.

This spring, the 21-year-old sophomore applied for readmission and Biles agreed. He assured the 5-foot-9, 190-pound Bolanos he would never be called upon to run with the ball or risk being tackled.

In the Musketeers' spring drills, Bolanos works out by himself kicking the ball at one end of the Xavier stadium. Biles hasn't had much chance to watch him and admits he's constantly learning new things.

The other day the coach walked over to where Bolanos was kicking with a group of students watching from the stands.

"You owe me eight now," he overheard Bolanos holler to his fans.

Eight what?

"Eight Winstons."

"I suppose you drink, too. Tequila, of course," said Biles.

"Naw, coach. It burned going down the first time. Scotch."

Until that same time, Biles had considered Bolanos only as a rightfooted kicker. But there he was kicking the ball through the uprights from the 20-yard line time after time with his left foot.

"Mario, your right foot. What's wrong" the coach asked.

Trial Of Woman Slated On May 4

Giving the defendant a new opportunity to obtain counsel, Municipal Judge Samuel M. Chertoff today granted a continuance until May 4 in the trial of Miss Jane Gombeski, 28, of Ambridge, charged with being in physical control of an auto while intoxicated.

Miss Gombeski was cited Tuesday at 10:35 p.m. at 5th and Market Sts. by Patrolmen James Buckley and David Huffman. Her case was continued until today to allow her to obtain an attorney. However, she returned to court this morning without counsel and requested a new continuance. Her $250 appearance bond was continued.

Jerry Lee Deitch, 32, of Pughtown was fined $5 and costs today when he pleaded guilty to a charge of crashing a stop sign Saturday at 5:45 p.m. at the junction of Routes 30 and 170. He was cited by the State Highway Patrol.

Frank L. Phillips of Wellsburg forfeited a $76.70 bond on a charge of operating a truck with a load that was 4,420 pounds over the legal limit. He was cited by the patrol Wednesday at 10:45 a.m. on Route 7.

Contrary to widespread belief, the World War I phrase, "Lafayette, we are here," was not the utterance of Gen. John Pershing. It was that of Col. Charles Stanton, American Army officer, whom Pershing had delegated to speak in his stead.

Akron Truck Drivers End Wildcat Strike

AKRON, Ohio (AP) — Settlement early today ended a wildcat strike at five Akron trucking companies.

The tentative agreement is contingent on ratification of the national Teamsters contract, said Oscar Harold, president of Teamsters Local 24.

Several hundred persons were affected as strikes tied up Roadway Express, Commercial Motor Freight, Morrison Motor Freight and Consolidated Freightways. Lyons Transportation Lines was picketed previously but pickets were withdrawn Wednesday morning.

Workers were reported dissatisfied with the national Teamsters contract and with not receiving pay for three days they were locked out.

The owner of a Route 30 motel was taken to City Hospital Thursday night for treatment of smoke inhalation after a fire broke out in the motor of a furnace fan.

Hubert Powers, operator of the Powers Motel, was listed "fair" today.

Elimination Of Tax Brings Special Bonus

CINCINNATI (AP) — Elimination of the federal excise tax on playing cards has resulted in a bonus for shareholders of the U.S. Playing Card Co.

The company announced Thursday it will pay a special dividend of 70 cents a share in addition to the regular quarterly dividend. A spokesman said the bonus represents more than $1 million that had been tied up in federal excise tax stamps and receivables.

Hearing Awaited For Regulations On Subdivisions

LISBON — Subdivision regulations which would affect future development of real estate in Columbiana County will be given a public hearing next Thursday at 2 by the county commissioners.

The regulations proposed by the Regional Planning Commission would apply to developments with plots of not less than five acres each.

A 48-page book of regulations, depicting design procedures and containing other information has been prepared and is available at $2 each to cover costs of publication.

The books may be obtained at the Planning Commission office at the Farmers Bank Building on N. Park Ave.

James Morrissey, planning director, says: "These regulations, prepared by a group of citizens and land authorities from throughout the county, provide the best method for insuring sound community growth and protection for land owners."

The regulations spell out maximum allowable land use density, drainage, street - building specifications and a new proposal for "cluster zoning" which allows more recreation space and less road and utility area for the acreage available.

The vehicles were imported free of duties under a U.S.-India agreement. They will be used by Mother Teresa in six of the 20 homes she runs in India for the destitute and the sick, especially lepers.

Ohio Gridder 'Trains' On Scotch, Cigarettes

CINCINNATI (AP) — One player on the Xavier University football team "trains" on scotch and cigarettes.

Coach Ed Biles says that's all right with him — as long as the player, Mario Bolanos of San Jose, Costa Rica, keeps kicking 50-yard field goals, soccer-style, with either foot.

"I'm probably the only football coach in America who recruited a player with a pack of cigarettes," Biles laughs.

Bolanos transferred to Xavier last year and came out for football as a specialist. But he quit the team after the first game, saying it was too rough.

This spring, the 21-year-old sophomore applied for readmission and Biles agreed. He assured the 5-foot-9, 190-pound Bolanos he would never be called upon to run with the ball or risk being tackled.

In the Musketeers' spring drills, Bolanos works out by himself kicking the ball at one end of the Xavier stadium. Biles hasn't had much chance to watch him and admits he's constantly learning new things.

The other day the coach walked over to where Bolanos was kicking with a group of students watching from the stands.

"You owe me eight now," he overheard Bolanos holler to his fans.

Eight what?

"Eight Winstons."

"I suppose you drink, too. Tequila, of course," said Biles.

"Naw, coach. It burned going down the first time. Scotch."

Until that same time, Biles had considered Bolanos only as a rightfooted kicker. But there he was kicking the ball through the uprights from the 20-yard line time after time with his left foot.

"Mario, your right foot. What's wrong" the coach asked.

Trial Of Woman Slated On May 4

Giving the defendant a new opportunity to obtain counsel, Municipal Judge Samuel M. Chertoff today granted a continuance until May 4 in the trial of Miss Jane Gombeski, 28, of Ambridge, charged with being in physical control of an auto while intoxicated.

Miss Gombeski was cited Tuesday at 10:35 p.m. at 5th and Market Sts. by Patrolmen James Buckley and David Huffman. Her case was continued until today to allow her to obtain an attorney. However, she returned to court this morning without counsel and requested a new continuance. Her $250 appearance bond was continued.

Jerry Lee Deitch, 32, of Pughtown was fined $5 and costs today when he pleaded guilty to a charge of crashing a stop sign Saturday at 5:45 p.m. at the junction of Routes 30 and 170. He was cited by the State Highway Patrol.

Frank L. Phillips of Wellsburg forfeited a $76.70 bond on a charge of operating a truck with a load that was 4,420 pounds over the legal limit. He was cited by the patrol Wednesday at 10:45 a.m. on Route 7.

Contrary to widespread belief, the World War I phrase, "Lafayette, we are here," was not the utterance of Gen. John Pershing. It was that of Col. Charles Stanton, American Army officer, whom Pershing had delegated to speak in his stead.

Akron Mayor Vetoes Plan Opposing OBC

AKRON, Ohio (AP) — Republican Mayor John Ballard has vetoed a resolution opposing the Ohio Bond Commission that was passed by City Council Tuesday night by a 10-3 vote along party lines.

Ballard said Ray Shephard, his Democratic opponent for mayor two years ago, proposed a plan of bond financing for Akron that was "essentially the same" as the state's bond proposal.

Matty Alou of Pittsburgh led the National League in hitting (3.24) last season and his brother Felipe with the Atlanta Braves led in total bases with 335, in hits with 218 and in runs with 122.

Akron Truck Drivers End Wildcat Strike

AKRON, Ohio (AP) — Settlement early today ended a wildcat strike at five Akron trucking companies.

The tentative agreement is contingent on ratification of the national Teamsters contract, said Oscar Harold, president of Teamsters Local 24.

Several hundred persons were affected as strikes tied up Roadway Express, Commercial Motor Freight, Morrison Motor Freight and Consolidated Freightways. Lyons Transportation Lines was picketed previously but pickets were withdrawn Wednesday morning.

Workers were reported dissatisfied with the national Teamsters contract and with not receiving pay for three days they were locked out.

Motel Operator Hospitalized By Smoke In Blaze

The owner of a Route 30 motel was taken to City Hospital Thursday night for treatment of smoke inhalation after a fire broke out in the motor of a furnace fan.

Hubert Powers, operator of the Powers Motel, was listed "fair" today.

Chester firemen got the call at 10:30 p.m. when smoke was seen pouring through the units at the motel.

Investigators said occupants were able to return to their rooms and damage, said to have been minor, was limited to smoke.

Elimination Of Tax Brings Special Bonus

CINCINNATI (AP) — Elimination of the federal excise tax on playing cards has resulted in a bonus for shareholders of the U.S. Playing Card Co.

The company announced Thursday it will pay a special dividend of 70 cents a share in addition to the regular quarterly dividend. A spokesman said the bonus represents more than $1 million that had been tied up in federal excise tax stamps and receivables.

Hearing Awaited For Regulations On Subdivisions

LISBON — Subdivision regulations which would affect future development of real estate in Columbiana County will be given a public hearing next Thursday at 2 by the county commissioners.

The regulations proposed by the Regional Planning Commission would apply to developments with plots of not less than five acres each.

A 48-page book of regulations, depicting design procedures and containing other information has been prepared and is available at $2 each to cover costs of publication.

The books may be obtained at the Planning Commission office at the Farmers Bank Building on N. Park Ave.

James Morrissey, planning director, says: "These regulations, prepared by a group of citizens and land authorities from throughout the county, provide the best method for insuring sound community growth and protection for land owners."

The regulations spell out maximum allowable land use density, drainage, street - building specifications and a new proposal for "cluster zoning" which allows more recreation space and less road and utility area for the acreage available.

Mother Teresa Given Gifts For Her Work

The vehicles were imported free of duties under a U.S.-India agreement. They will be used by Mother Teresa in six of the 20 homes she runs in India for the destitute and the sick, especially lepers.

Fishing Catapultes Into $1 Million Class

AUBURN, Ala. (AP) — Revenue from fishing permits has catapulted Alabama farm ponds into the $1 million-a-year income class — and the end is nowhere in sight, says the Auburn University Extension Service.

In addition, says Extension Service staff member Earl F. Kennamer, $1 million of the state's $3.4 million bait business last year went for farm pond fishing. Not bad for a facility that used to serve as little more than a watering hole in the pasture and an occasional hot weather splash for farm youngsters.

Plan Advanced To Aid Students

By WILLIAM V. MERRIMAN
Review Staff Correspondent

COLUMBUS, Ohio — Financially - limited post - high school students are offered a longer, stronger helping hand from the state in legislation passed unanimously by the Ohio Senate Thursday.

The bill, co-sponsored by Sen. John Longsworth, R-Salem, among other things extends state - insured loans to students attending technical institutes, business schools, trade schools and those enrolled in correspondence courses.

—:—

AT PRESENT the state can guarantee loans only for college students and nursing students.

Sen. Ralph S. Regula, R-Navarre, the bill's chief sponsor, termed this "a vital change," a recognition of increasing opportunities for advanced education short of the college campus.

The measure, which now goes to the House, also would:

Raise the one - year limit on state - backed loans from $1,000 to $1,500 for graduate or professional students.

Lift the total guaranteed loan limit to one student from $5,000 to $9,000.

Permit the state to guarantee 100 per cent of the loan. Sponsors said many banks and leading institutions have been reluctant to participate in the program under the present 80 per cent state guarantee.

Increase maximum interest on a guaranteed loan from the current 5½ per cent to the level authorized by the Federal Higher Education Act of 1965 or the National Vocational Student Loan Insurance Act, which now is 6 per cent.

Change the name of the Ohio Higher Education Assistance Commission to the Ohio Student Loan Commission, which sponsors suggest would be more descriptive of the commission's purpose.

LONGSWORTH said the commission now has $12 million under guarantee, with $2.2 million completely repaid and another $4 million being repaid in regular monthly installments.

Since the commission's creation six years ago, he pointed out, there have been only 46 defaults on repayment, costing the state $29,000. Some $2,500 has been collected.

Before adjourning until next Tuesday night, the Senate also passed a Longsworth - sponsored measure to permit agreements between city and general health districts and county commissioners to provide health services within commissioners powers.

Official Airs Funds' Status

LISBON — Money allocated for Columbiana County but unused during the biennium ending June 30 has been reencumbered, State Rep. Clarence L. Wetzel of Lisbon told the County Forests and Parks Council Thursday night at St. George Parish Hall.

He and State Sen. John Longsworth of Salem spoke during the monthly meeting. Don Elliott of Rogers, chairman, presided.

Longsworth discussed Issue 1 (Ohio Bond Commission) which state voters will decide May 2. He said he feels that OBC provides protection to the voters as to the amount of bonds which can be issued — three-quarters of one per cent of the general revenue fund each year for not over eight years.

Wetzel said approval of Issue 1 would mean an additional $655,000 for Beaver Creek State Park, $1,500,000 for a vocational high school, another $100,000 for a county airport, and funds for a junior fair building, pottery museum, water pollution control, retarded children's school, mental health facilities and sewage plant facilities.

Wetzel said the following funds have been reencumbered: $450,000 for Beaver Creek, $130,000 for Highlandtown Dam, $1,780,000 for higher education; $100,000 for the airport and lesser amounts for Guilford and Zepernick Lakes. Reencumbered from highway money, Wetzel said, was $300,000 for a road at Highlandtown Lake and $30,000 for roads at Beaver Creek. He said work should start soon on Echo Dell Rd. in Beaver Creek Park.

In 1892 the value of filtration was proved when an epidemic of cholera struck the citizens of Hamburg, Germany, who drank unfiltered water from the Elbe. Just across the river where the water supply was filtered, residents of Altona remained healthly.

Before adjourning until next Tuesday night, the Senate also passed a Longsworth - sponsored measure to permit agreements between city and general health districts and county commissioners to provide health services within commissioners powers.

Official Airs Funds' Status

LISBON — Money allocated for Columbiana County but unused during the biennium ending June 30 has been reencumbered, State Rep. Clarence L. Wetzel of Lisbon told the County Forests and Parks Council Thursday night at St. George Parish Hall.

He and State Sen. John Longsworth of Salem spoke during the monthly meeting. Don Elliott of Rogers, chairman, presided.

Longsworth discussed Issue 1 (Ohio Bond Commission) which state voters will decide May 2. He said he feels that OBC provides protection to the voters as to the amount of bonds which can be issued — three-quarters of one per cent of the general revenue fund each year for not over eight years.

Wetzel said approval of Issue 1 would mean an additional $655,000 for Beaver Creek State Park, $1,500,000 for a vocational high school, another $100,000 for a county airport, and funds for a junior fair building, pottery museum, water pollution control, retarded children's school, mental health facilities and sewage plant facilities.

Wetzel said the following funds have been reencumbered: $450,000 for Beaver Creek, $130,000 for Highlandtown Dam, $1,780,000 for higher education; $100,000 for the airport and lesser amounts for Guilford and Zepernick Lakes. Reencumbered from highway money, Wetzel said, was $300,000 for a road at Highlandtown Lake and $30,000 for roads at Beaver Creek. He said work should start soon on Echo Dell Rd. in Beaver Creek Park.

In 1892 the value of filtration was proved when an epidemic of cholera struck the citizens of Hamburg, Germany, who drank unfiltered water from the Elbe. Just across the river where the water supply was filtered, residents of Altona remained healthly.

Chrysler Buys AM Subsidiary, Report Claims

DETROIT (AP) — American Motors reportedly has taken a giant step toward solving its financial problems by selling its financing subsidiary, Redisco, Inc. to Chrysler Corp.

The sale was confirmed today by unimpeachable sources. They told The Associated Press that formal announcement of the deal is scheduled for next Tuesday.

American Motors' board of directors meets Monday and is expected to announce a $30-million loss for the first six months of its current fiscal year.

There was no official confirmation from either American Motors or Chrysler regarding the sale.

Chrysler Board Chairman Lynn A. Towsend told newsmen April 18. "We are continuing to look at Redisco but no decision has been made yet."

Redisco, whose annual profit was estimated at between $3 million and $4 million, reportedly carried a price tag of over $30 million.

The decision to sell profitable Redisco was made by American's Board Chairman Roy D. Chapin Jr. and President William V. Luneburg, who took over the firm's top two places Jan. 9.

Ohio Brass Co. Strike Termed Unauthorized

AKRON, Ohio (AP) — A two-day-old strike by more than 700 workers at the Ohio Brass Co. here was termed unauthorized Thursday by Paul Weller, president of Local 747, United Electric Radio and Machine Workers.

They left their jobs starting with the second shift Wednesday to protest suspension of 11 men who staged a sitdown Tuesday night for undisclosed reason. No talks with the company were scheduled.

Chrysler Buys AM Subsidiary, Report Claims

DETROIT (AP) — American Motors reportedly has taken a giant step toward solving its financial problems by selling its financing subsidiary, Redisco, Inc. to Chrysler Corp.

The sale was confirmed today by unimpeachable sources. They told The Associated Press that formal announcement of the deal is scheduled for next Tuesday.

American Motors' board of directors meets Monday and is expected to announce a $30-million loss for the first six months of its current fiscal year.

There was no official confirmation from either American Motors or Chrysler regarding the sale.

Chrysler Board Chairman Lynn A. Towsend told newsmen April 18. "We are continuing to look at Redisco but no decision has been made yet."

Redisco, whose annual profit was estimated at between $3 million and $4 million, reportedly carried a price tag of over $30 million.

The decision to sell profitable Redisco was made by American's Board Chairman Roy D. Chapin Jr. and President William V. Luneburg, who took over the firm's top two places Jan. 9.

They left their jobs starting with the second shift Wednesday to protest suspension of 11 men who staged a sitdown Tuesday night for undisclosed reason. No talks with the company were scheduled.

Junior Editors Quiz on SEEDS

QUESTION: How do seeds begin to grow?

ANSWER: Soak some dried lima beans in water for a few days. The outer skin will then easily come off. There will be two flat halves, called cotyledons (3). Look closely and you will find a tiny plant. At its top (1) you can see a suggestion of leaves and there is a pointed end which will become a root (2). When a seed such as this bean is planted in warm moist earth, the moisture swells it so that it bursts its coat. The minute plant begins to grow, using the material in the cotyledons as food. The roots grow first and anchor the plant; the stem part can then grow up. There must be some arrangement to scatter seeds around so they won't crowd each other out. Some seeds, like those in our main picture, develop light attachments like parachutes which enable them to sail away on the wind. Others pop out away from the mother plant. A great many are encased in attractive fruit or nuts that birds and squirrels carry around. Others, like the burdocks, are waiting for you to rush by so they can grab on and hitch a ride.

Hints from Heloise

— By Heloise Cruse —

Dear Heloise: If you use pinking shears, cutting a double thickness of wax paper every now and then. It lubricates the cutting edges and retards the wear.

Don't cut material like emery cloth with pinking shears, because it is apt to ruin the shears.

Also, no one should try to sharpen shears unless they have had years of experience. We happen to sharpen them for a chain of stores and this we know for sure.

HARRY BAUMAN.

This man knows what he's talking about. So gals, next time your shears need a little bit of perking up, do like I did and go get a piece of wax paper, fold it over a couple of times and cut-cut-cut.

The wax paper did a dilly of a job for me . . . thanks to our friend Harry.

HELOISE.

DEAR HELOISE: Whenever a recipe calls for melted shortening (except butter), I use vegetable oil instead.

Saves time, and then, too, I don't have to wash that pan used to melt the shortening in.

MABEL WOOD.

DEAR HELOISE: The other day I used a large, old hair roller as a "frog."

I wrapped foil around the bottom of the roller and put it into a small vase . . . stuck the flowers into the center part of the roller, filled the vase with water and the flowers stayed in place.

This let me make a pretty flower arrangement even though I didn't have a regular frog to hold them in place.

MRS. M. SCHAFFER.

Three, four and even more of these brush rollers can be held together with rubber bands and they make great frogs.

Because they are so deep, they do a great job of holding up flowers.

HELOISE.

LETTER OF THOUGHT

DEAR HELOISE: I happened to glance in my neighbor's car and saw a picture of their two children, age six months and two years.

Their mother had written over the picture "Please drive carefully, Daddy, we need you."

This was on the dashboard where he can always see it.

I'm sure that picture is a constant reminder for him to be careful.

CLARENCE WEBER.

DEAR HELOISE: My boys always manage to tear a hole around the buttons on their shirts.

When I buy new shirts, I take the buttons off and put iron-on tape between the fold, then sew the buttons back on.

It takes a little extra time, but in the long run I find it sure saves tears.

MRS. MYRNA GREER.

DEAR HELOISE: When stacking old newspapers for the "paper drive," don't waste time placing all the folded edges on the same side. The pile gets lop-sided and the papers slide.

Alternate the folded side and you can make a higher, neater stack.

ANITA SOMMER.

DEAR HELOISE: I have a large family and bake quite often.

Usually I send a few samples over to my in-laws.

I have found that a half-dozen cupcakes fit perfectly into the box that heavy duty aluminum foil comes in.

When the lid is closed it doesn't mess up the icing if carried carefully.

JANET FELTMAN.

Wouldn't that be a great idea for bake sales?

HELOISE.

'Bonus' Offered To Bond Buyers Starting Monday

Savings Bond buyers are being offered a "bonus" by the Treasury Department in the form of "Freedom Shares" which will go on sale Monday, according to L. H. Colley, chairman of the Columbiana County Savings Bonds Committee.

The new security will yield an annual average return of 4.74 per cent when held to maturity of 4½ years, the chairman said. Offered in denominations of $25, $50, $75 and $100, the notes can be bought only in conjunction with Series E Bonds and only to the extent that bonds are purchased on a regular plan.

"This means," Colley continued, "that for every $25 E Bond you buy on a regular plan, you also can buy a $25 Freedom Share up to a limit of $1,350 in one calendar year, based on the face value of the shares. You can buy more bonds than Freedom Shares, of course, but not the other way around."

The cost of the new security is $20.25 for each $25 face value. This compares with the $18.75 cost of a Series E Bond. The difference is due to the fact that the Freedom Shares mature in 4½ years, while E Bonds must be held 7 years to reach their $25 face value.

Toastmasters Give Speeches At Meeting

Prepared speeches were given by James Buchanan, Donald Hancock and Francis House, president, during the meeting of the East Liverpool Toastmasters Club Wednesday night at the Ohio Valley Gas Co. office.

William Frontz, a recent new member, presented the tabletopics speech. Vincent Laneve served as chief evaluator, assisted by Charles Cronin, Frontz and Ed Gray, who was the recipient of the bull - thrower award. House received the most improved speaker award.

House, who introduced Ed Custer, toastmaster for the evening, reminded members to attend a meeting tonight at the gas company office to assist in organizing a toastmistress club.

Could Borrow More Under Measure

College Students' Loan Bill Approved By Senate

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Ohio college students could borrow more money under the state's student loan program under a bill now past the halfway mark in the General Assembly.

The Senate gave 26-0 approval to the measure Thursday as the lawmakers ended their legislative week and headed home for a long weekend and final campaigning for the May 2 primary election.

The off-year election doesn't involve legislative candidates, but majority Republicans and some Democrats are pushing for statewide issues on a proposed Ohio Bond Commission and legislative reappointment. The outcome figures to weigh heavily on further activities of the current legislature.

Both houses will return to work election night.

Sen. Ralph Regula R-29 Navarre, Stark, said the student loan measure would improve and expand an already successful program under which more than 20,000 students have borrowed money with a default rate of less than one per cent. The state guarantees loans obtained by students from private financial institutions, under the program.

One major change in the bill would increase such guarantees from 80 to 100 per cent to overcome what Regula said was reluctance by some banks to loan with the lesser guarantee.

Other provisions would hike the annual loan limit for graduate students from $1,000 to $1,500 and boost the over-all amount of loans from $5,000 to $9,000. Annual limit for undergraduates would remain $1,000.

The bill also would add vocational, trade and approved business schools to the list of educational institutions borrowers could attend, and insurance companies would be permitted to make student loans for the first time.

Eight bills were introduced in the two chambers with the lawmakers breaking the 1,000 mark. The House has received 685 measures and the Senate 318 for a total of 1,003 since the session started four months ago. Less than three dozen have become law.

A bill to revise licensing for manufacture and distribution of fertilizer was among three passed by the House and sent to the Senate Thursday. Others would convey abandoned canal land in Auglaize County to the village of New Bremen and increase certain recording fees on real estate transactions.

Rep. Joseph F. Hiestand R-20 Highland sponsored the fertilizer bill which he said is needed to take into account "extensive changes" occurring in the industry since the original law was enacted in 1961.

He said the number of fertilizer plants has increased from 40 to more than 200 since that time and that distribution of fertilizer in bulk has increased from 20 per cent to more than 50 per cent.

Hiestand's bill calls for licensing of all locations and mobile units that process, granulate, blend, mix or alter the composition of fertilizers within the state, and those who ship into the state.

The measure also would permit the director of agriculture to adopt regulations covering storing and handling fertilizers and distribution of fertilizer solutions other than by net weight.

New bills introduced in the House included one by Rep. John Galbraith, R-76 Maumee, Lucas, to prevent sale of firearms to felons, alcoholics, drug addicts and mental incompetents.

Other House bills would provide $5,000 for school districts for each fulltime guidance counselor they employ and exempt certain farm trailers from license plate and turn signal requirements.

New Senate measures would permit technical institutes and vocational high schools to share facilities and increase commissions paid agents employed by county tax commissioners.

Sen. Kline Gets Commission Post

State Sen. Ernest Kline of Beaver Falls has been named by Pennsylvania Gov. Ray Shafer to serve on a new state crime commission he created by executive order March 27.

The commission, under the chairmanship of Atty. Gen. William Sennett, is to look into crime and delinquency, law enforcement and administration of justice.

Pittsburgh Solicitor David Stahl and Atty. Alexander Cooper of Pittsburgh are also on the 20-member commission.

Pedestrian, 74, Hurt When Struck By Auto

A 74-year-old Klondyke pedestrian escaped serious injury when bumped by an auto Thursday afternoon as he crossed Market St. at E. 5th St., police reported.

Elbert C. Hyatt of 1948 Michigan Ave. was treated at City Hospital for a scalp laceration after he was struck by a 1957 model four-door sedan driven by Rick Darrell Dieringer, 19, of Calcutta, officers said.

Dieringer told Patrolman K. J. Montgomery he had halted on E. 5th St. for the traffic signal and then began to pull around the corner onto Market St. when Hyatt stepped off the curb into his path. Hyatt told the officer he started across the street, not seeing the auto.

Hints from Heloise

— By Heloise Cruse —

Dear Heloise: If you use pinking shears, cutting a double thickness of wax paper every now and then. It lubricates the cutting edges and retards the wear.

Don't cut material like emery cloth with pinking shears, because it is apt to ruin the shears.

Also, no one should try to sharpen shears unless they have had years of experience. We happen to sharpen them for a chain of stores and this we know for sure.

HARRY BAUMAN.

This man knows what he's talking about. So gals, next time your shears need a little bit of perking up, do like I did and go get a piece of wax paper, fold it over a couple of times and cut-cut-cut.

The wax paper did a dilly of a job for me . . . thanks to our friend Harry.

HELOISE.

DEAR HELOISE: Whenever a recipe calls for melted shortening (except butter), I use vegetable oil instead.

Saves time, and then, too, I don't have to wash that pan used to melt the shortening in.

MABEL WOOD.

DEAR HELOISE: The other day I used a large, old hair roller as a "frog."

I wrapped foil around the bottom of the roller and put it into a small vase . . . stuck the flowers into the center part of the roller, filled the vase with water and the flowers stayed in place.

This let me make a pretty flower arrangement even though I didn't have a regular frog to hold them in place.

MRS. M. SCHAFFER.

Three, four and even more of these brush rollers can be held together with rubber bands and they make great frogs.

Because they are so deep, they do a great job of holding up flowers.

HELOISE.

LETTER OF THOUGHT

DEAR HELOISE: I happened to glance in my neighbor's car and saw a picture of their two children, age six months and two years.

Their mother had written over the picture "Please drive carefully, Daddy, we need you."

This was on the dashboard where he can always see it.

I'm sure that picture is a constant reminder for him to be careful.

CLARENCE WEBER.

DEAR HELOISE: My boys always manage to tear a hole around the buttons on their shirts.

When I buy new shirts, I take the buttons off and put iron-on tape between the fold, then sew the buttons back on.

It takes a little extra time, but in the long run I find it sure saves tears.

MRS. MYRNA GREER.

DEAR HELOISE: When stacking old newspapers for the "paper drive," don't waste time placing all the folded edges on the same side. The pile gets lop-sided and the papers slide.

Alternate the folded side and you can make a higher, neater stack.

ANITA SOMMER.

DEAR HELOISE: I have a large family and bake quite often.

Usually I send a few samples over to my in-laws.

I have found that a half-dozen cupcakes fit perfectly into the box that heavy duty aluminum foil comes in.

When the lid is closed it doesn't mess up the icing if carried carefully.

JANET FELTMAN.

Wouldn't that be a great idea for bake sales?

Could Borrow More Under Measure

College Students' Loan Bill Approved By Senate

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Ohio college students could borrow more money under the state's student loan program under a bill now past the halfway mark in the General Assembly.

The Senate gave 26-0 approval to the measure Thursday as the lawmakers ended their legislative week and headed home for a long weekend and final campaigning for the May 2 primary election.

The off-year election doesn't involve legislative candidates, but majority Republicans and some Democrats are pushing for statewide issues on a proposed Ohio Bond Commission and legislative reappointment. The outcome figures to weigh heavily on further activities of the current legislature.

Both houses will return to work election night.

Sen. Ralph Regula R-29 Navarre, Stark, said the student loan measure would improve and expand an already successful program under which more than 20,000 students have borrowed money with a default rate of less than one per cent. The state guarantees loans obtained by students from private financial institutions, under the program.

One major change in the bill would increase such guarantees from 80 to 100 per cent to overcome what Regula said was reluctance by some banks to loan with the lesser guarantee.

Other provisions would hike the annual loan limit for graduate students from $1,000 to $1,500 and boost the over-all amount of loans from $5,000 to $9,000. Annual limit for undergraduates would remain $1,000.

The bill also would add vocational, trade and approved business schools to the list of educational institutions borrowers could attend, and insurance companies would be permitted to make student loans for the first time.

Eight bills were introduced in the two chambers with the lawmakers breaking the 1,000 mark. The House has received 685 measures and the Senate 318 for a total of 1,003 since the session started four months ago. Less than three dozen have become law.

A bill to revise licensing for manufacture and distribution of fertilizer was among three passed by the House and sent to the Senate Thursday. Others would convey abandoned canal land in Auglaize County to the village of New Bremen and increase certain recording fees on real estate transactions.

Rep. Joseph F. Hiestand R-20 Highland sponsored the fertilizer bill which he said is needed to take into account "extensive changes" occurring in the industry since the original law was enacted in 1961.

He said the number of fertilizer plants has increased from 40 to more than 200 since that time and that distribution of fertilizer in bulk has increased from 20 per cent to more than 50 per cent.

Hiestand's bill calls for licensing of all locations and mobile units that process, granulate, blend, mix or alter the composition of fertilizers within the state, and those who ship into the state.

The measure also would permit the director of agriculture to adopt regulations covering storing and handling fertilizers and distribution of fertilizer solutions other than by net weight.

New bills introduced in the House included one by Rep. John Galbraith, R-76 Maumee, Lucas, to prevent sale of firearms to felons, alcoholics, drug addicts and mental incompetents.

Other House bills would provide $5,000 for school districts for each fulltime guidance counselor they employ and exempt certain farm trailers from license plate and turn signal requirements.

New Senate measures would permit technical institutes and vocational high schools to share facilities and increase commissions paid agents employed by county tax commissioners.

'Bonus' Offered To Bond Buyers Starting Monday

Savings Bond buyers are being offered a "bonus" by the Treasury Department in the form of "Freedom Shares" which will go on sale Monday, according to L. H. Colley, chairman of the Columbiana County Savings Bonds Committee.

The new security will yield an annual average return of 4.74 per cent when held to maturity of 4½ years, the chairman said. Offered in denominations of $25, $50, $75 and $100, the notes can be bought only in conjunction with Series E Bonds and only to the extent that bonds are purchased on a regular plan.

"This means," Colley continued, "that for every $25 E Bond you buy on a regular plan, you also can buy a $25 Freedom Share up to a limit of $1,350 in one calendar year, based on the face value of the shares. You can buy more bonds than Freedom Shares, of course, but not the other way around."

The cost of the new security is $20.25 for each $25 face value. This compares with the $18.75 cost of a Series E Bond. The difference is due to the fact that the Freedom Shares mature in 4½ years, while E Bonds must be held 7 years to reach their $25 face value.

Toastmasters Give Speeches At Meeting

House, who introduced Ed Custer, toastmaster for the evening, reminded members to attend a meeting tonight at the gas company office to assist in organizing a toastmistress club.
